BRAKEMAN KILLED

Was Found Mangled by Cars in Western Avenue

The body of Kenneth E. Pierce of 36 Puffer street was found at four o'clock yesterday morning lying beside the tracks in the Western avenue yards of the Boston & Maine railroad. His chest was crushed in, the ribs and back were broken, and one arm was torn off.

SEWER MEN SLASHED

Cut Down to Five Hour Shifts This Week

And Next Week Will Find Them on Half Time—Charlie Morse Talks About Street Work—Boulevard Ready for Big Races

Beginning today the sewer gangs will work five hour instead of six hour shifts and for this week only. Next week they will be put back to an eight hour day, half time. This is because the days are growing short, a gentle reminder of the fact that the good old summer time is fast nearing a close.

WORK ON BOULEVARD. Mr. Morse said today that he was about through the gravel work on the boulevard. The wind up of the job there and in Varnum avenue will call for the three big rollers and Mr. Morse allows that the course so far as the Lowell end of it is concerned will be all right for the big automobile race on Labor day.

CHARLIE MORSE SAYS THAT he has already expended about $3000 on the boulevard and he has yet considerable work to do in order to make things right for the big race. Quite a good sized job awaits him in Dunbar avenue, the Lowell turn of the course, Dunbar avenue runs from Varnum avenue to the boulevard and it is there that the Lowell Automobile club has been granted a permit to build a bridge. The avenue is in poor shape at the present time. Mr. Morse con- sidered widening it to twice its present width and packing it with cinders. The cinders he will cover with fine gravel and the steam rollers will do the rest. At one end of the avenue there are a couple of big stones, a post and a sign board that will have to be removed and this side of the entrance to the avenue will be well banked in order to prevent the machines from skidding on the turn.

WESTFORD STREET JOB. Preparations for the paving of Westford street with Hassam pavement was begun Saturday morning and after the edgelines have been fixed, the catch basins attended to and trees trimmed, the paving will be laid. The material taken from Westford street will be used in Saunders avenue and Howard street.

MIDDLESEX STREET JOB. Supt. Morse said today that just as soon as the railroad and gas men get through with repairs in Middlesex street he will start the stone paving job from Towers corner to Garnet street. Stone for the job has been ordered and the first three cars will arrive within a few days. Mr. Morse

DEATHS

HASTINGS.—The many friends of George Hastings, aged 19 years, 3 months, of 6 Richmond street, will be pained to hear of his death which took place late Sunday afternoon. His death will be a great shock to all because of his stout sickness. He was a young man, exceedingly one character, and leaves a wide circle of friends. Besides his father John and his mother Sadie, he leaves one brother, Arthur, and two sisters, Elizabeth and Mrs. Henry Halligan. Funeral notice later.

FUNERAL NOTICES

DUNLAP.—Julia Dunlap, aged 53 years, died last night at the city hospital and today the remains were removed to Undertaker J. J. O'Connell's parlors in Central street. The funeral will take place on Tuesday morning and there will be a luncheon of request at the Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock.

Passengers on the steamer Republic that arrived in Boston Sunday morning from Europe were Cornelius E. Collins and William L. Gookin, who made a tour of the British Isles and had a most enjoyable trip throughout. On the steamer were Miss Catherine T. Lennon and Miss Yvonne Lemaire, who made a tour of several of the European countries.

Will Hold Their State Convention in Lynn This Week

LYNN, Aug. 24.—The biennial state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, to be held here next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, will be of special interest not only to Lynn, but to Essex county, on account of the plan to elect James Ryan, a resident for a half-dozen years and president of the Essex county division, as state vice president. Mr. Ryan was nearly elected to the office at the last biennial in Fall River. Delegates have

GOT SEVEN MONTHS

Severe Sentence for Larceny of Liquor Imposed by Court

John H. Donohoe is evidently a lover of "wet" goods for on the night of the first of July he entered the storehouse of Leroy G. Hall and "pinched" five gallons of gin, six quarts of whiskey, two and a half quarts of sherry wine and two and a half quarts of Tom & Jerry. Donohoe, however, had a bad memory and knew nothing about the stuff.

A Mr. Harvey, in the employ of Mr. Hall, stated that on the night in question he saw Donohoe enter a cellar window. A little later he saw Donohoe trying to push a keg out through the window, but finding that the keg was too large for the opening he took other stuff.

George H. Frye testified that he made an entry of the contents of the cellar and found certain quantities of liquor missing after making an examination after the larceny.

A local bartender testified that Donohoe offered him a bottle of Tom & Jerry for a pint of beer. Patrolman James Donagan told of being notified of the attempt that Donohoe made to exchange the bottle of Tom & Jerry for the beer.

He was sentenced to seven months in jail.

Powell Ray, who has been before the court before, was sentenced to the state farm, the sentence was suspended and he was placed in the hands of the probation officer.

Terrence McQuade made his 22d appearance, it being his third within a year. He will spend the next month with Harry Shaw at the Lowell jail.

James P. Scully, a second offender, was given a suspended sentence of two months in jail.

FUNERALS

LANE.—The funeral of Thomas Patrick Lane, child of James and Julia Lane, took place Saturday afternoon from the home of his parents, 51 James street, and was largely attended. There was a wealth of floral offerings, including a pillow inscribed "Darling," from Thomas and Simon Lane; pillow inscribed "Tommy," from the family; spray of asters, Nellie and Margaret Dee; basket of assorted flowers, Mr. and Mrs. James Broznan; large spray of pink and white roses, Mrs. James Cox; large spray of white asters tied with baby ribbon, Mildred Atherton; spray of white asters tied with baby ribbon, Mildred Atherton; spray of white asters, Miss Mae Farquhar. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery in charge of Undertaker John A. Finnegan.

CONLEY.—The funeral of Dorothy Conley took place Saturday afternoon from the home of her parents, Walter and Loretta A. Conley, 31 Lysaght street, and was largely attended. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons.

PRATT.—The funeral of Anna F. Pratt took place Saturday afternoon from the residence of W. O. Wing, 229 Stevens street. Service of an impressive nature were conducted by Rev. Smith Baker, D.D. Prominent among the many beautiful floral tributes were the following: Wreath of Mr. and Mrs. F. Jones; wreath of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pratt; Miss Mary Jones; Miss Grace Gilman; Mr. and Mrs. Lucas; Mrs. Larrabee and young ladies of Mr. Pratt's office. The bearers were relatives of the deceased. The burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery and the arrangements were in charge of J. A. Weinbeck.

CURTIN.—The funeral of John J. Curtin took place yesterday afternoon from his residence, 125 Chapel street, and was largely attended. The members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles walked in the funeral procession. At 2 o'clock services were held at St. Peter's church, Rev. Fr. Burns officiating.

Among the many floral tributes laid upon the grave were the following: Pillow of roses, pink and ferns with the inscription "John," from the wife of the deceased; large pillow of roses inscribed "Our John," from parents of deceased; standing clock and dial on base with the hands pointing to the sad hour, 1920, from the degree staff of the Fraternal Order of Eagles; wreath on base with white ribbon inscribed "Cousin," Miss Catherine Quirk; pillow of roses, pink and ferns, inscribed "My Niece," from little Irene Curtin; pillow of roses, pink and ferns, inscribed "John," from Mrs. George Gray of Milton, N. H.; spray of asters, Mrs. Ellen Murphy and family; spray of roses from the Misses Vaughn, John, Anglin and Sabourin; spray of pink tied with pink ribbon, Misses Ames and Catherine Sullivan. There were several other sprays from friends.

The bearers were all members of the degree team, F. O. E., consisting of Messrs. James J. Sheehan, Dennis Landry, Patrick J. McManis, Joseph T. McGirr, Peter E. McMahon and Charles C. Schloss.

There were friends from Boston, Gloucester, Milford, N. H., and Manchester, N. H.

Burial was in the Catholic cemetery, where the committal prayers were read at the grave by the Rev. John Burns. Burial was under the direction of Undertakers Higgins Bros.

FOLEY.—The funeral of Miss Margaret E. Foley took place Saturday from the rooms of C. H. Molloy & Sons, Market street. A funeral mass was celebrated at St. Peter's church by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan. At the offertory P. P. Haggerty sang "O Salutaris," at the close of mass James E. From Every Eye, and as the body was borne from the church the choir sang "De Profundis." The bearers were Mr. Whittemore, Mr. Barry, Mr. Guernier, Wm. and John Plante, and Mr. Bernier. Among the floral offerings were the following: Large cross and anchor on base, inscribed "At Rest," from family of deceased; large pillow, Berkeley Eye and Ear Infirmary, Boston; spray of asters, Mrs. Plante and Mrs. Martin; and spray of Jacqueminot roses, a friend. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Fr. Heffernan. C. H. Molloy & Sons were the funeral directors.

HASTY.—The funeral of Edward Hasty took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents, 4 Bay State street, and burial was in the Catholic cemetery. Undertakers Molloy & Sons had charge.

CURRAN.—The funeral of Francis Curran took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents, 24 Dunton street, and burial was in the Catholic cemetery in charge of Undertakers Molloy & Sons.

ROLLINS.—The funeral of James A. Rollins took place Saturday afternoon from his residence, 134 West Sixth street and was largely attended. Services were conducted at the house by Rev. Mr. Tomkinson, assistant pastor of the First Baptist church, and there was singing by Miss Inez George, aged 155, G. A. R., of which deceased was a member, also held their services at the house. The bearers were Ames Winters, A. A. Davis, A. G. Parkhurst and B. S. Clough, members of the G. A. R. Burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery. Funeral arrangements were in charge of the J. R. Currier Co.

NICHOLS.—The funeral of Elijah M. Nichols took place yesterday afternoon from his residence, 712 Suffolk street. Rev. Sarah A. Dixon of the First Unitarian Congregational church officiated and there was singing by Mrs. H. R. Hanson and Miss Stella Wilson. The bearers were G. L. Pollard, F. G. W. McKittick, A. R. Coffin, and B. R. Currier. Burial was in the family lot in the Woodbine cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of W. H. Robinson and burial was in charge of Undertaker Healey.

CIRCULATION COUNTS...

In estimating the cost of advertising, remember that circulation is what counts. When a paper with one-half or one-third the circulation of The Sun asks Sun rates for advertising space you can readily see how cheap our rates really are.

The real cost of advertising is not the rate per inch, but the rate per inch per thousand of circulation.

It is only when a people live for the present and the future, when the arts and the sciences are advanced, that the present is worth living. A present which means something, that is the only thing worth living for.

Christian London sends out annually far more times as many Bibles as the rest of the cities of the world put together. The good old God-fearing religion, the religion of endless life, finds its greatest triumph in London.

Across the channel, in France, is this other great city—Paris. It is superior to London in art and in science, but it is the most corrupt city in the world. If science and culture and art and wealth made archangels, then Paris would be the center of them. It would be the most mad, the most immoral city in the universe.

THE WRIGHT AEROPLANE IS READY FOR THE TEST

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—While Wilbur Wright has been amazing the French by his remarkable aeroplane flights at Le Mans his brother, Orville, is preparing to test one of the machines before the government commission at Fort Myer, Va. The aeroplane is now ready for the government trials, and sensational performances are expected. The Fort Myer trials will be the first that the brothers have made.

ATTENDED MASS
1200 Men of Fleet at Cathedral Service
SYDNEY, N. S. W., Aug. 24.—Four thousand men of the American fleet were permitted ashore yesterday and 1260 of these, including 134 officers, attended high mass in the cathedral. These services were impressive and special music had been arranged in honor of the Americans. Great crowds lined the streets and took quite as much interest in the parading sailors as on the first day of their arrival.

A banquet was given last night in the town hall by the Catholics to 1500 men and officers of the fleet, which was attended by the federal ministers, judges and other officials. Cardinal Moran, archbishop of Sydney, presided. Toasts were drunk to the king and president after which Cardinal Moran, in proposing "Our Guests," de-fered a long historical address, showing that Catholics had advanced along the same lines of material prosperity and religious liberty in America and Australia.

 The Rev. Matthew C. Gleeson, chaplain of the battleship Connecticut, responded in a brilliant address. He said that Sydney's reception surpassed any that the fleet had ever received, even at home. The magnificent hospitality of the Australians, he declared, would make an abiding impression in the hearts of eighty millions of Americans, who were truly kinsmen. America knew no religious problems, whether English, Scotch, Irish or other.
 Among the most cherished mementoes of the visit that the Americans will carry away will be a tame kangaroo which

Baptists and Congregationalists united in service, which also was largely attended. Chaplain Stevenson of the jackets, while the Presbyterians wor-other officers, attended the church parade of 300 Australian troops. The troops later marched to Centennial park, where the governor presented the colors to the infantry regiment.

Following Saturday's storm, glorious weather prevailed yesterday. There was a drive in the harbor, and the fleet was crowded with visitors. On Tuesday night a boat containing two American sailors and two civilians, capsized while crossing Woolloomoolloo Bay. All of the men were rescued, but one of the sailors had a narrow escape.

"Tommy" Burns, the American heavy-weight champion, will meet "Hills" Squires tonight in the roped arena for the third time. The syndicate which is organizing the fight is to be held here and those to be

A familiar voice was heard at the First Congregational church yesterday morning and a venerable and familiar face looked down from the pulpit. It was the voice and face of Rev. Smith Baker, D. D., and a goodly crowd had gathered to hear the former pastor preach the last of his summer sermons. Dr. Baker has been substituting for Rev. Mr. Winnett for several weeks and the congregation of the First Congregational church has, on each Sunday, been augmented by many from the other congregations, friends and disciples of Dr. Baker, the a nation, heathen or Christian, which does not believe in the immortality of soul, which does not look out into the blackness of the future and see some great final thing wherever you find such a nation then you will also find that it is weak and dissipated. Without the power of an endless life to awaken such nations, to quicken their morals, they are doomed to positive failure.

"Immortality, I believe, is not confined to one class any more than to an order. The proportion of rich, educated, male, and down to mis-held in Melbourne, has been a passenger for Burns and Squire to England, so elaborate have been his preparations.

The syndicate has about $100,000 at stake, covering the fight between Burns and Squire in Sydney and between Burns and "Bill" Lane in Melbourne. For the fight tonight Burns is to be paid $10,000 win or lose, and $2,500 for expenses. Squires is to be paid $12,500 win or lose, which includes expenses.

For the fight in Melbourne with Lane, Burns is to receive an additional $500, and Lane is to receive an additional $750, and he is to be the present heavyweight champion of Australia, while Squire formerly held the title.

Burns in an interview last night said that he was suffering from a slight gold, but that he expected to win a high prize very easily. Squires, who has already made but a sorry showing in the London race, is a disappointed and not hesitating to exert considerable influence to secure a very good chance at the start. He is in good condition and is being compared with the underdogs some training. The chances here being more agreeable to him than in any of the foreign countries, he has caught the fancy of many, much bettering the outcome of the Burns-Squires bet. Burns' journey being a warm favorite.

Pendergast, the lightweight champion of the fleet, will meet RAY, who is a live for the present and to be thought of as an all-time live. This is showing the life and strength and permanency of this American nation. The danger is not so far off as when the first time the English were beaten.

FOR NO LICENSE

Law and Order League Holds a Big Meeting

About 1000 persons, men, women and children, gathered on the South common yesterday afternoon to hear what the speakers for the Law and Order League had to say for the no-license cause. It was another series of meetings for no-license and it was opened at 4.30 by Rev. John T. Ullom and the audience was an attentive and an orderly one. Rev. J. M. Craig, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the first speaker. "What the Law Can Not Do, Education Can," was his subject and in part he said:

"There is no question on earth which compares with this temperance question, and the agitation of such a question is for the good of every man, woman and child in the land. Does every man who uses any kind of alcoholic liquor or malt beverage know that every glass of beer, whiskey or gin contains a strong poison? If I go into a drug store and buy arsenic, and use it, I am poisoned. But on the bottle is a sign poison, and a red skull and crossbones. I am sure that there are some men who would not drink it. "A while ago the director of the department of charities of France sent out statements which were challenged by every wine grower, brewer and seller in the whole nation of France. They rose up and bombarded the government. France is a wine-growing country, and the government investigated the statements of the director of the department, and found every one of them absolutely true. "The government immediately, as is the custom over there, placarded the walls of the public buildings, and public places with the following statements:

1. Alcoholism is chronic poisoning resulting from the use of alcohol, even if such use does not produce drunkenness.
2. "It is an error to say that alcohol is necessary to a working man."
3. "Alcoholism is good for nobody, but works harm to everybody who uses it."
4. "Alcoholism frequently results in insanity."
5. "It is one of the most frequent causes of tuberculosis."
6. "It enhances and aggravates all acute diseases."

MRS. SAGE'S GIFT

An Islet for Military Prep. School

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Negotiations have been completed for the purchase by Mrs. Russell Sage of Constitution Island, in the Hudson river, opposite West Point. Mrs. Sage shortly will present the island to the United States government for the site of a great military preparatory school, which will form one of the most important features of the military training establishment at West Point.

Mrs. Sage has had the purchase of the island in view for some time and while it is known that the papers are about to be signed and that some announcement of Mrs. Sage's intention will probably be made within a week to one could be found in the city yesterday, who is acquainted with the details. Robert W. DeForest, who usually arranges such matters for Mrs. Sage, is away. It was said that John D. Lindsey had a hand in the negotiations. He sailed for Europe on Thursday.

Col. Hugh L. Scott, the commandant at West Point, who is known to have been consulted by representatives of Mrs. Sage as to whether it would be possible to carry out Mrs. Sage's idea of a military preparatory school and whether it was probable that congress would sanction the presentation of the island, said yesterday that he had received no papers in the transaction and

"This is not quoting from a one-eyed cold water fanatic. It is from calm and accurate investigation by a government and in a wine-growing country."

Thomas H. Raymond of Cambridge was the next speaker and his subject was: "The Needs of the City." He said in part:

"The Pride of New England," said Thomas Jefferson, "is in its town meetings." The city is nothing but a larger town, with meetings of the council and board of aldermen in place of the town meetings.

"These officers of the law are supposed to govern in their meetings as the people would govern should they hold town meetings of their own. I sympathize with the working man. Down in Cambridge where I come from we have had no saloons for years, and did grant that we may have none ever again. So long as I have a voice I will fight against the saloons, and I know where I speak I come here to plead that every man, woman and child in this city may have a chance."

"You spend money for the sick of your city. You spend money for parks, and good streets, and I am glad to see that. But what does it mean when the statistics show that you accepted $125,000 for liquor taxes during the past year? It means that you sold every man, woman and child in this city for $1.25 per head. Am I right? And you cannot measure a human life in dollars and cents. Where is the man living who can tell what Abraham Lincoln was worth to this world. Where is the man living who can tell what Jesus Christ was worth to this earth."

"The man who needs to allow every man to have his chance and that will not happen until the saloon is wiped out. "A man once came to me and said that rum was a good thing because he could get a man to work for him for less wages if he was a drinker than if he was a sober man. I sympathize with a man who has to sell himself to an employer because in a moment of drunkenness he gives in and signs a contract to work for less money than he is worth."

"Why is a large police force necessary? I am told that Lowell has the largest police force of any city of its size in New England. I believe that this is the result of having saloons here. It should be eradicated."

MRS. SAGE'S GIFT

An Islet for Military Prep. School

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Negotiations have been completed for the purchase by Mrs. Russell Sage of Constitution Island, in the Hudson river, opposite West Point. Mrs. Sage shortly will present the island to the United States government for the site of a great military preparatory school, which will form one of the most important features of the military training establishment at West Point.

Mrs. Sage has had the purchase of the island in view for some time and while it is known that the papers are about to be signed and that some announcement of Mrs. Sage's intention will probably be made within a week to one could be found in the city yesterday, who is acquainted with the details. Robert W. DeForest, who usually arranges such matters for Mrs. Sage, is away. It was said that John D. Lindsey had a hand in the negotiations. He sailed for Europe on Thursday.

Col. Hugh L. Scott, the commandant at West Point, who is known to have been consulted by representatives of Mrs. Sage as to whether it would be possible to carry out Mrs. Sage's idea of a military preparatory school and whether it was probable that congress would sanction the presentation of the island, said yesterday that he had received no papers in the transaction and that any statement concerning it must come from Mrs. Sage.

Col. Scott declined to say whether the presentation of Constitution Island had been discussed during the recent visit of Secretary Wright and himself to President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, but it is believed that the subject was talked of and that it was decided that there was nothing in the way of the gift being accepted by the government. President Roosevelt is known to have had the idea of a great military training school in mind for several years. Because of his interest in the project the purchase of Constitution Island for that purpose was to have been brought up in the next congress.

Whether Mrs. Sage also will furnish the money with which to erect the necessary buildings on the island will not be known until a statement concerning Constitution Island is made for her. The 250 acres comprising the island can be bought for about $150,000. It is said, at which price property in the vicinity of the island has been selling. It is not considered likely that Mrs. Sage intends to furnish funds for the buildings to be erected on the island or that the government would expect her to do so.

Constitution Island is now the property of Miss Anna Bartlett Warner, who with her sister, the late Susan Warner, who wrote under the pen name of Elizabeth Wetherell, bought the property in 1860.

Miss Warner is now 88 years old, but in spite of that is in excellent health and has gone to West Point every Sunday, when the weather did not prevent her from making the trip across the river in a boat, to teach a Sunday school class in the Academy chapel.

Studying Banking Systems of Europe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The sub-committee of the national monetary commission of the United States which has been studying the English banking system has concluded its sittings in London. The sub-committee, consisting of Senator John W. Daniel of Virginia, Edward B. Yreland of New York and Jesse Overstreet of Indiana, from the house of representatives, have gone to Paris to continue the investigations. Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island, accompanied by Professor A. P. Andrews of Harvard university, will proceed to Berlin to get some special articles prepared by experts on banking. Senator Eugene Hale of Maine and Theodore E. Burton of Ohio are on their way to New York.

Senator Aldrich is the man who introduced the senate currency bill to relieve the money stringency, but it was severely criticised throughout the

KILLED OFFICER

Dame Says He Shot Him in Self Defense

DOVER, N. H., Aug. 24.—A tragedy which has stirred Dover profoundly was enacted at the home of Night Patrolman Walter S. Stirling, an elderly man, shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday morning, when he was shot dead by Special Policeman J. Edward Dame, 33 years old, who with his wife, formerly a ward of Stirling, lived in the Stirling home, 132 Portland street.

The shooting followed an altercation in the narrow passageway between the house and a chamber in the stable. There were no witnesses to the affair, it appears, as it is said that Mrs. Dame was in bed at the time.

Dame discharged his revolver twice, the first shot going through the roof and the other entering Stirling's left breast just above the heart and severing a large blood vessel, causing instant death.

Dame immediately telephoned the police station. Patrolman William H. Tibbets was on duty, and to him he said he had shot Stirling in self-defense, and asked to have a physician sent up as quickly as possible. City Physician Young and another doctor reached the house together and found Mr. Stirling dead.

IN SELF-DEFENCE.

Meanwhile Loren Worster, who lives in the next house, walked to Franklin square and told Patrolman Thomas Fody and Special Policeman William Scanlon of the shooting. They hurried to the Stirling house, where Dame awaited them on the doorstep with his revolver in his hand. Dame said as they mounted the stairs: "Fody, I surrender to you. Here's my gun. Walter and I had some trouble, and I shot him in self-defense."

After a survey of the scene of the tragedy Fody started with his prisoner to headquarters, leaving Officer Scanlon on guard.

Asked how the shooting happened, after his arrest, Dame, with an apparent effort to keep from sobbing, replied: "I did it in self-defense. I could never have done it for any other reason. I cannot tell just how it happened. Walter has not been himself lately. He had some words this morning. At that time he was in a bad way. I did it in the excitement of the struggle and to save my life."

Dame was locked up and will be arraigned today. He has secured John Kivel and City Solicitor George T.

Hughes as counsel.

From interviews obtained from intimate friends of Patrolman Stirling it is learned that his contemplated marriage was a contributing cause of the tragedy. Stirling was a widower, his wife having died two years ago last October. It was the wish of Mrs. Stirling, expressed shortly before she died, that her husband should marry again. About a year ago he became acquainted with a woman known as Emma Moore, living here. They became engaged, and the announcement caused a stir among his family and immediate friends.

It was hinted that the woman had a husband living. Mr. Stirling received an unsigned letter to that effect. Greatly disturbed he began an investigation, resulting, it is stated, in his learning that the woman's husband was living and that she had not been divorced. He is Albert Sweet, formerly of Lynn, but now an inmate of the Soldiers' home at Togus, Me.

This revelation did not altogether shake Mr. Stirling's faith in the woman with whom, it is said, he was deeply in love, but it caused him much anxiety and worry.

It was also stated that since Mrs. Sweet and her husband separated, she had lived 13 years as housekeeper for a man named Scarborough, and that she came with him from another state to this city, leaving his family. It is said, after she became acquainted with Mr. Stirling.

When Mr. Stirling had his annual vacation this summer he went to Boston, accompanied by Mrs. Sweet. On his return he was so changed in appearance that his friends hardly recognized him. He had been looking badly before his vacation, but after his return from Boston he appeared to have undergone a severe mental strain. Ordinarily he was one of the most jovial of men, but for several weeks past this attitude toward his friends has been conspicuously lacking.

There was trouble in his home, the Dames trying to dissuade him, it is said, from marrying the woman. He was determined, however, in taking that course and it is said that divorce proceedings between the Dames had been instituted, and that the marriage would take place as soon as the divorce was secured.

WILDER DEFEATED LOWELL'S GAME

Lowell Boy Put Up Great Match New Bedford Defeated in a Close Contest Saturday With Travis

MANCHESTER-BY-SEA, Aug. 24.—In an intensely interesting and closely contested match W. J. Travis of Garden City, L. I., won the final round in the first division of the Essex County club golf tournament from H. J. Wilder, Vesper club, Lowell, Saturday afternoon. Not until the 17th hole did the veteran player lead his brilliant and determined opponent and then only by perfect play in the last two holes could he defeat him.

The match was the concluding one of the largest and most successful tournament yet held by the club and was witnessed by a large gallery, which was well repaid, for many very interesting situations developed during the match and many brilliant shots.

The first hole was halved at five, and Wilder took the lead at the second. Travis made a bad drive a ball going into the long grass not more than 20 yards from the tee. Wilder was on the green in two and won the hole with a four.

Travis evened the match at the next hole, as Wilder's second shot took him beyond the green and he lost with a five. The fourth hole was an easy four for both players and the fifth was likewise halved at five. At the sixth hole Wilder topped his drive, but got out of the bad situation by a most brilliant brassy shot right to the green, making it easy to halve the hole at four. Travis drove what looked to be out of bounds at the seventh hole, but closed his eyes and showed the ball right on the line in the deep grass. A very clever shot put it on the course and he was on the green in three, but Wilder made an easy four and won the hole, Travis taking three putts and scoring a six.

The eighth hole showed brilliant work on the part of Wilder. His first shot looked to be out of bounds, but struck the stone wall and fell fair. His second shot brought forth the greatest applause of the match. With his brassy he sent the ball with perfect direction only 20 yards to within eight feet of the hole, making it in four and taking the lead two up. The ninth hole was halved, both players going to within a foot of the hole on their second shot.

The tenth went to Travis in three, Wilder making no distance on his second, taking five for the hole. The 11th hole showed Wilder at his best. His second shot went too far to the left and landed in the long grass within a foot of a tree at the side of the course. Travis being well on the green, it seemed almost impossible for him to recover from such a lie, but to the surprise of everybody, in the most extraordinary manner, while backed up against the tree, he landed within eight feet of the hole, making it possible for him to halve it in four. Travis missed a great chance to even up the match in the 12th. His drive took him to the green. Wilder sliced to the left and fell short on his approach shot. Travis getting within five feet of the hole, but in some unaccountable manner he failed and halved at four.

The 13th went to Travis and evened up the match. Both were on the green in two, but Wilder was weak on his third and lost by one stroke. The 14th and 15th holes were perfectly played by both players and halved in four. Again on the 16th Wilder showed his ability to get out of difficulties. His drive was very bad, sliding off far to the right and landing within a few feet of one of a group of buildings. His only chance was to play away from the green, and even to do that was most difficult. He was successful, however, and landed over 100 yards to the right, with Travis close to the green on his second shot. Wilder's third shot was a beauty, being high and accurate and falling on the edge of the green, with Travis about six feet from the hole in three.

Wilder's next shot was a perfect stroke for Travis. The latter made a great try, however, lifting the ball over Wilder's and flinging the cup. Wilder thus being very fortunate to keep the match alive with a four. Wilder lost the 17th hole by driving out of bounds, and it was tough that he should do so, as his next drive was almost perfect and landed within a very few feet of the hole. Travis had also driven the green and won the hole with a very long putt at two. Wilder ran down his putt, also, but lost the hole, two to three, by losing the stroke for going out of bounds.

Travis won the 18th hole and match. Both were on the green in three, but Wilder missed his second putt and was beaten five to six.

The card follows:

Travis—
Out ..... 5 6 4 4 5 4 5 3—42
Wilder—
Out ..... 5 1 5 4 5 4 4 3—38
Travis

Travis and Wilder played off their tie at medal play in the qualifying round in this match, Travis winning, 7 to 6. No less interesting than the match between Travis and Wilder in the final was the semi-final between Travis and Roberts in the forenoon. For the first nine holes Roberts could not seem to strike his golf and was four down at the turn. Then began one of the most stubborn and pluckily fought uphill battles of the whole tournament. Roberts was three down at the 15th hole, and to halve another would lose the match. Under such circumstances he won both the 16th and 17th holes by putts of fully 25 and 15 feet and halved the 18th at six, losing the match one up. Roberts' brilliant effort against Travis in the last nine holes of this match, which he made in 28, was one of the striking features of the tournament.

The final round for cup in the second division was won by W. W. Reed, who defeated A. G. Southland in a rather even match, 5 up and 4 to play, and R. M. Purves won the cup in the third division from R. G. Shaw, 4 up and 3 to play.

on the use of motor vehicles in that district of the Dominion of Canada: "Comparatively few motor vehicles are owned here. There are perhaps half a dozen in Brockville, three in Prescott and a few elsewhere scattered about the district, but for some reason their use has not become common. Nor is this, in my opinion, for reasons among the people. I cannot find that there is any regular agency in the district for the sale of motor carriages. There ought to be such an agency and it is my belief that a car of moderate cost would find good sale, if such sale were pushed by the personal appeal of a good agent. The roads of the district are no better nor are they any worse than is the case in the average country section, while the main thoroughfares, coach and stage, along the St. Lawrence river bank, is much of the way macadamized and fast like the average highway, and its scenic attractions are hard to duplicate anywhere. There is hardly a day during the season when automobiles do not cross the St. Lawrence here by ferry from the United States, en route to Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa or other points of interest to tourists and pleasure seekers throughout Canada. This section is well worth prospecting by the manufacturers of a safe, hardy, moderate priced automobile of American make."

It is at length being recognized, in this country at any rate, where there are probably more motors on the road than anywhere else, that the remedy must come from within, and the various clubs and organizations are bestirring themselves seriously with a view to putting a stop to inconsiderate driving, says the London Field. The automobile association, which for some time pursued a course calculated to defeat the objects of the police traps, has now issued instructions to its patrons which have a distinctly repressive influence on the inconsiderate driver. The white badge, which used to be the signal of a clear road, has been abolished and a serious attempt is being made to co-operate with the police in every way that a considerate motorist would commend.

All cases of reckless driving are reported to headquarters and are suitably dealt with by the committee, and it will be interesting to note how this policy will work out in the long run. When the cars were first compelled to carry number plates a great deal of nonsense was talked about "long branded" cars and it was said that the numbers were too big. Nevertheless, in the vast majority of cases where it has been desirable to get the number of a car it has been a difficult matter to do so. Number plates are frequently so placed as to be difficult to read, sometimes of set purpose, and it would not be at all a bad thing if stricter regulations were made in this respect. In competitions the officials find it necessary to use much bigger numbers in order to facilitate identification.

A. H. Ackerman, who recently made a trip from Albany to Utica in a Studebaker touring car, tells of the following amusing incident that occurred about 50 miles from Albany: "We drew up to a garage, and I inquired 'Can we get any juice?' meaning, of course, current. Imagine my surprise when the man appeared a moment later carrying a five gallon can of gasoline. It was only after much explanation that I convinced him that I did not want it, and he directed me to an electric lighting plant some two or three miles away."

There were about 600 spectators at Washington park Saturday p. m. to witness the game between Lowell and New Bedford. The threatening weather of the afternoon had something to do with the attendance as did the game played at Spaulding park.

The grounds were rather muddy for good playing, but the fans saw some fast work despite the poor condition of the grounds.

The hit made by Howard in the first inning was the 29th made by him this season.

"Dumny" Connolly, the long winded pitcher, was on the slab for the visitors, while Warner did like service for the Tigers. Umpire Connolly called the game at 3:15 o'clock.

Barrows hit to Corcoran, forcing Connor at second and Cox fled out to Barrows.

Score—Lowell 3, New Bedford 0.

SEVENTH INNING
O'Brien hit along the first base line to Cox and was out. Lord followed, hitting to Wolfe and being retired at first. Delave hit to Warner and was out at first.

Doran singled and went to second on a balk. Warner struck out. Vandergrift sacrificed, sending Doran to third. Magee struck out.

Score—Lowell 3, New Bedford 0.

Barrows hit to Corcoran, forcing Connor at second and Cox fled out to Barrows.

Score—Lowell 3, New Bedford 0.

EIGHTH INNING
Harrison hit one that Warner knocked down, but Vandergrift threw back to first and the runner went to second.

Duff got hit by a pitched ball and he walked to first. Weeden fled out to Connor. Then Doran made a beautiful throw to second to get Harrison and the latter was doubled up between the bases. Adler, the heavy hitter, was put in to bat for Connolly and Warner struck him out.

In the latter half of the eighth Murray went into pitch for New Bedford. Howard fled to Barrows and Beard fled to Lord. Connor hit to Delave, but the latter fumbled. Then Wolfe fled to Delave.

Score—Lowell 3, New Bedford 0.

NINTH INNING
Barrows fled to Connor. Corcoran fled out to Howard. O'Brien hit to Warner and died at first.

FOURTH INNING
In the fourth inning Barrows hit to Wolfe and was retired at first and Corcoran fled to Howard. O'Brien got a scratch single, the first hit for the visitors, but Lord was third out on a fly to Magee.

Connolly hit to Connolly and was out at first. Wolfe bunted to Connolly, who fumbled and the runner was safe. Connolly got ready to pitch the ball and Wolfe started for second, and before the New Bedford players could notify their pitcher that Wolfe was stealing, the Lowell man reached second in safety. Cox hit to Lord and was out at first. Wolfie went to third. Doran was third out on strikes.

Score—Lowell 2, New Bedford 0.

FIFTH INNING
Delave fled to Howard, but Harrison reached second on Beard's fumble. Duff fled to Doran and Connolly hit to Wolfe and died at first.

Lowell scored another run in the latter half of the inning. Warner hit to Duff, who fumbled and he got on first. Vandergrift bunted the ball along the first base line and beat it out to first. Warner going to third. Magee hit to Lord, who threw Vandergrift out at second, but Warner scored. Magee tried to steal second and was thrown out. Howard struck out.

Score—Lowell 3, New Bedford 0.

SIXTH INNING
In the sixth inning Connolly hit in front of the plate and was thrown out at first by Doran. Barrows hit to Warner and died at first. Connors hit to deep left field and Magee grabbed the sphere, making the third out.

Beard hit to Corcoran and was out at first. Connor then drew the first base on balls given during the game.

Cooking-Ranges

Have More Improvements than all others combined! No other Ranges have these Features:

1. Single Damper (patented), worth the price of the range. One motion controls fire and oven. Saves fuel. Regulates the heat exactly.
2. Cup-Joint Oven Flues. They don't leak heat. They insure better baking.
3. Patented Dock-Ash Grates. They afford a steadier fire—one that will keep over night. They save fuel, time and trouble.
4. Reliable Oven Indicator. Entirely protected from the smoke and steam of the oven.

THE REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN.

The campaign is now waxing warm. The republicans are laying their plans for a lively battle at the hustings, although in view of the panic now upon the country it is difficult to see on what grounds they can ask support of the people. That party still stands pat on the tariff that shelters the robber trusts; it still is loyal to those monsters which President Roosevelt has been unable to restrain; the party is not abashed by the panic affecting the whole country, and hence it continues the work of federal usurpation of authority and misconstruction of the constitution to suit its purposes. That party, to relieve the financial stringency, has passed a dangerous currency bill that suits the bankers more than anybody else; it maintains the old Philippine policy, the despotic rule of the speaker by which popular measures are debarr'd from consideration in congress; it has refused to favor reasonable concessions on the injunction question or to grant a single measure of relief from the extortions under the excessive tariff. If returned to power the republican party, as some of the leaders have said, may revise the tariff upward instead of downward. No party so mortgaged to the trusts can serve the people.

The present situation has been well described by Congressman Barnett of Alabama in the following language:

"Never has the republican party gone into a campaign with as much sinne upon its garments as it carries into the present one. 'Never has it gone into one where it has realized that its shortcomings, its sins, and its infamies are so fully known to the great masses of the people as at this time."

"For the last twelve years it has invoked the doctrines of the full dinner pail to bamboozle the people, and it has raised the cry of prosperity as the slogan for its success."

"Thousands of honest men have been deceived by the specious arguments of its spellbinders, and thousands of toilers have cast their ballots for its candidates because they believed that republican success meant bread and meat to their wives and their children, and that democratic victory meant hunger and want for those whom they loved. But you can't fool all the people all the time, and at last the greed of your vampires has caused the scales to fall from the eyes of the American voters, and your day of retribution is at hand."

"The objects of your republican care and benefactions had become so intrenched in their own arrogant lawlessness that they believed no power could ever drive them out. It would have yet been many a long year before they could have been dislodged but for the fact that they became so greedy with devouring the people that their insatiable maws forced them to turn to devouring themselves. Then it was that the light began to be turned on and the people began to see that the very foundations of their liberties were being threatened."

OPPORTUNITIES FOR THE FARMERS.

At the present time when almost every commodity necessary for household use is controlled by trusts and sold at enormous prices there is a great opportunity for the farmers of New England to produce their own oats, their own pork, beef and butter.

With oats at 75c a bushel the farmers could undoubtedly make money by raising this crop.

With the extortions of the beef trust which have sent the price of beef to the highest figure ever reached in this or any other country, the farmers could also derive a large profit by raising their own beef. Nay, they could go even farther and raise cattle to supply the New England market. That would be the best method of forcing the beef trust to reduce its prices.

The farmers of New England, it seems, are letting a great many opportunities pass that if availed of would bring them in liberal profits.

The vacant farms of New Hampshire are being reconsecrated and placed under tillage. The farms of Massachusetts should also receive more attention, the farmers should raise more cattle as well as a greater variety of crops so that in a short time they may be able to market their grain, their beef, their pork, their butter and eggs to good advantage and in opposition to the trusts.

THE WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS.

The woman suffragists of Massachusetts have proclaimed that they are to enter the presidential campaign for Taft and Sherman.

Can it be that they are all of the same political stripe? Seldom do we see a body of women display such harmony.

Possibly the democratic women who favor the election of Bryan and Kern are of the opinion that it is useless to start rattling old tin cans and making other disconcerting noises without having anything resembling a vote to back it up. In that opinion they are quite right.

The republican party has produced a panic, probably the worst in our history, and the "suffragettes" show questionable judgment by coming out in a campaign of wind to serve a return to power of this panic-making combination of the trusts and the republican party. The suffragists will not advance their cause by this course.

The encouragement given by various governments to the inventors of flying machines is bound, eventually, to result in a machine that will astonish the world by its power of flying from point to point with perfect dirigibility except where high winds or storms interpose to make such a feat impossible.

BIT OF A RIDDLE

Three for you, Kitty Kane, as you said, but this minute.

Life's a queer kind of riddle, a plague at the best.

Shure, I know of but wan complination that's in it.

Jisht wan thing that's so sweet it makes up fur the rest.

It begins wid a "y" and it ends wid a "u."

You may pucker yer brow, that's as much as I'll tell.

An', besides, don't ye see, 'tis but my point of view?

You must work out your riddle o' life yerself.

You must look fur your joy in another direction.

An' I beg you to light in yer innocent eyes.

Jisht a spark o' sweet pity to aid the inspection.

Since the thing is so small, an' so lowly it lies.

It begins wid an "in" an' it ends wid an "it."

Oh, it's little it merits your notice, 'tis true.

Still there's good in it, too, though that same may be true.

A reflection of all that is sweetest in you.

Och! the hethersome riddle! I wonder now whether

We could make our luck better if we should combine?

I think I think I'd jisht put our two heads together

Jay, dear, an' mine, an' wan word all your joy, dear, an' mine.

It begins wid a "u" an' it ends wid an "it."

There's the sum o' my joy an' the sum o' yer own!

Och! the riddle o' life's so distressin' to guess,

Nayther wan of us, dear, could have solved it alone.

—T. A. Darcy, in Catholic Standard and Times.

Lillian Russell, just in from Europe, had a secret, but she couldn't keep it. She just had to tell someone, and like she has found the real way to prolong the youth in her that makes her the envy of all women who believe that beauty talks, and here it is, in her own words:

"I am in love for the first time in my life, and with a prince."

She didn't blush and polish her tell-tale solitaire. She simply got dreamy looking about the eyes and unconsciously played with a gorgeous string of pearls—the biggest pearls that ever approached New York harbor.

And the pearls were given her by a Greek prince who lives in Athens.

It was in Paris that the woman who does not know how to grow old met the prince. She was seriously impressed with his own personality, his Greek profile, and she intuitively knew that his 35 years of life had not dulled him to a lack of appreciation of the "rather" good-looking woman who was sitting next him at dinner.

When Lillian Russell got in with her trunk she talked about everything, but she never mentioned love. It was only when the pearls were shown that she came out with it.

"It is not the pearls alone that made me know," she said. "Why, girls, honor bright, at night, while the string is in my eye, I think just the same thoughts of him and I look out at the stars and never, never do I wish the pearls were diamonds. There are moments when the greatest thing in the world is love. I have only now learned that lesson." Good for Lillian.

There are heroes in peace as well as in war. Just after a cage containing twelve miners had begun to descend to the bottom of the Little Oak coal mine at Belleville, Ill., on Saturday, a steam pipe burst, and a cloud of steam spouted upon the arm of Sidney Rowland, the engineer, who stood with his hands upon the lever controlling the descending cage. There was no one to whom to call and had he released his hold the cage would have dropped to the bottom of the shaft, so he stood with his flesh cooking until the indicator showed that the cage had reached the bottom. Rowland was severely scalded.

Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of the Kaiser, has applied for patent for an automatic cleaner of the glass screens protecting the occupants of automobiles. The invention is in the form of a leather lined rule moving up and down the screen when the car is speeding in the rain.

While several boys and girls were playing in the woods in Caldwell, N. J., Anna Dodge, whose home is in Brooklyn, found the nest of a bird and in it a ring set with four diamonds. A jeweler says it is worth $350.

Gov. C. N. Haskell, national treasurer for the democrats, is spending his spare moments writing campaign songs. He has employed Ham P. Bee of Ardmore, a legislative clerk, to accompany him on his speaking trips and sing the Haskell songs.

This is a well known club, which has counted among its members Presidents Garfield, Hayes and McKinley and other distinguished Ohioans. The club also entertained Grover Cleveland at one time.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

TO PROTECT PROPERTY AND LIFE.

Boston Traveler: Last day brings its report of new "yegg" outrages, which now extend beyond the metropolitan district of Boston, to which, for a fortnight, they were confined.

Crime is imitatively epidemic; the outrages reported daily from places like Lowell and Haverhill and Marlboro are probably but the work of the Jamaica Plain bandits, but this landlory is possible only because of the inefficiency and lack of system of our public officers.

This crime wave emphasizes the necessity for a change in our police system, which will put the responsibility for law and order in the greater Boston district under the control of a metropolitan police board, and thus obviate the confusion and lack of co-operation which now exists.

The police department in the smaller communities should remain as at present, but under direction of the central authority in Boston.

THAT STATE POLICE

Worcester Post: And while the murders, holdups, burglaries, assaults, and all the crimes within the repertoire of the most desperate outlaws continue with their reign of terror in Boston and suburbs, what about that state police which was to be specially for such emergencies?

This is not the first time that its utter incompetence and worthlessness, especially its so-called detective branch, has been proved at the test. It is only the most striking exhibition of what has been notorious for years. And it is extra aggravating coming at a time when state taxes are so enormously increased. Likewise discredited to a criminal state.

Philadelphia Ledger: When a man froths at the mouth and barks like a dog he has not hydrophobia. The doctors say so, and that much seems to be settled. A property belonging to a man and his family is a plain delirium and convulsions at the crisis, and probably a slight fever in the early stages.

Besides, some of the oldest practitioners, with hospital experience, say that they never saw a case of rabies caused by a dog bite. The moral is that if you are bitten by a dog try to forget all about it, and if your friend is bitten give him brandy if he begins to bark, so that he will quit thinking about dogs.

GOOD BREAD AND BAD.

Concord Patriot: An English writer on bread says good bread is richer in health giving food than chicken, prairie, or the lean flesh of meat, while the starch, which forms by far the largest constituent of bread, has no muscle, bone or cartilage, and is therefore whatever its nutritive value it is not a source of energy or force, and yet it is a fat producer. The great object of the food economy of the working class is to get the most out of the bread, but in the end it is a failure.

The two foods, bread and milk, form an ideal ration, especially for children, for while both are more easily digested than meat, and when combined form a better balanced ration, the richness of milk in casein, albumen and fat making up for the deficiency of bread in these or similar materials.

KANSAS CITY'S ZOO.

Boston Transcript: Kansas City has heard the call of the wild, and this month has begun work on the first building of a group, which, when completed, will cost half a million dollars. Five years are allowed for completion. Its most conspicuous feature will be the "lion house," which will be 120 by 200 feet, and has accommodations for about 20 lions, tigers, etc. In addition to the housed specimens, there will be a 10-acre jungle at the eastern end of Boone park, where within a fence 10 feet high animals will roam undisturbed in their native wildness so far as their nearness to civilization will permit the illusion.

FIRE DISASTERS.

Worcester Mirror: The recent disastrous fire in Boston, where property valued roughly at a million and a half of dollars was swept away in a few moments, serves to stimulate anew the discussion of the wholly inadequate preventive measures against invasion by fire. It is matter of common knowledge that American cities, with the possible exception of a certain restricted area in New York, are more liable to visitations of this kind than any other civilized world. Statistics compiled during the last three-quarters of a century show the proof.

Glance at the situation which confronts us in America today. During the period since 1855 the property loss resulting from fires which reached the stage of conflagration amounted to $31,826,000. To this gross total the United States alone contributed $9,520,000, and if Canada be included the amount mount to $11,370,000, a truly appalling showing. America with her young men has thought rather of piling up funds of conservatism than of this kind of youth is surely no over.

Sherman Sisters In-

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Through

guardianship proceedings for Mrs. Sophia Augusta Brown of Newport, the aged mother of Mrs. William Watts Sherman, it has been announced that Mrs. Brown's two granddaughters, the Misses Irene and Mildred Sherman, will inherit by her will the bulk of her fortune of $40,000,000. The Sherman family are already very wealthy, and the two young granddaughters will be among the richest young women in the world when they come into their grandmother's fortune.

TOUGH ON PAPA

BUT NEVER AGAIN WILL HE

PLAY COACHMAN.

A Louisville business man who recently took a summer home about 12 miles in the country had an adventure the other night that has, he says, taught him not to do too much for young fellows who might be calling on his daughter.

"The other night," says he, "I allowed the coachman to go, and did not discover until after he had gone that my daughter was expecting a young man caller. There was nothing to do but to hitch up the horse myself and go to the station to meet him."

"When the car rolled in, just one younger alighted, and as he answered the description of the fellow coming to see my daughter I lumbered up to him and inquired if he might be Mr. . . ."

"How did you know?" replied the chap, with a tone of disgust at being addressed thus by the "coachman."

"The caller was loaded into the carriage and the journey to the house was begun. To break the ice I told him I had understood that he was in a certain line of business, and again came the laugh. 'How did you know?'"

"During the remainder of the journey the young man sang popular songs. When we arrived at the house I put the caller out and proceeded to the stable to put up the horse. After this work had been completed I returned to the house just in time to overhear the young man ask my daughter:

"Who was that 'fresh guy' that brought me over here tonight?"

"When told that the 'fresh guy' was her father, I thought the caller would wilt, and then I decided to put in an appearance about that time. He jumped up, said that if he had known I wanted to put up the horse he would certainly have helped. My advice to fathers—and I shall hereafter stick to what I am preaching—is never to go to all that trouble for a young man caller when that person has two good legs that can carry him from the station to the house. That young man certainly walked right to the station that night—Lionville Trust."

CLOTH MARKET

PRINT TOOK A BIG BOOM LAST WEEK.

FALL RIVER, August 24.—There was extensive trading in the print cloth market last week, and the total sales are estimated at about 450,000 pieces, the largest of any weekly quota in over a year. The improvement really began during the closing days of the previous week and strengthened daily to such an extent that the manufacturers stiffened up a little on prices, thereby cutting off concessions appreciably. While quotations have not changed over those of last week, buyers have found it useless to bid under these prices, especially on goods mostly wanted by them.

The bulk of trading was done in narrow goods, and the one feature of these sales was the large transactions put through on 27-inch, 61x64s at 2 13-16 cents. In some instances buyers were willing to pay a bonus of 1 per cent. to secure this make of goods. The sales came nearly depleting the local market of this line, and the interesting point of the trading was the comparatively little competition met with from southern mills. Ordinarily, the quotations from southern mills are a fraction lower than those about this section of the country, but fortunately the mills in the north offered better inducements to the buyers and consequently the major part of the business was secured by them.

The character of the trading was continuous, and not of that hand-to-mouth sort which has been the case for the past several months. Printers were in the market in large numbers and their takings constituted a majority of the sales. Sizable lots of spots were disposed of, while contracts were entered into calling for deliveries as far ahead as November. The demand for wide and medium-wide goods was light and the volume of business put through on these was comparatively small. While the number of transactions was large, they represent a loss of between two and three cents a pound at current quotations, and this being the case, manufacturers are not over desirous to trade further along these lines.

The quotations are as follows: 25-inch 61x64s, 3 1-16 cents; 25-inch 61x60, 2 13-16 cents; 27-inch 61x60s, 2 13-16 cents; 27-inch, 56x56s, 2 1-2 cents; 33 1-2-inch, 64x61s, 41-42 cents; 33-inch, 68x72s, 4 7-8 cents.

Official Copy of 1908 Football Rule Changes Now Made Public For First Time

Some Flashes Of Baseball Philosophy.

CARL LUNDGREN, CHICAGO NATIONALS' SWEDE PITCHER.

THE official football rules for 1908 have just been issued by Walter Camp of Yale, one of the leading members of the Intercollegiate rules committee.

The changes in the regulations for this year are not as important as in many years past, yet they have a decided effect on various phases of the game. While the basic nature of the changes have been hinted at by talented guessers on certain newspapers, the official-text of the committee's alterations is now for the first time placed before the general public and is as follows:

In order to render the rules and penalties more consistent it was voted that rules 24 and 25, which in some instances differ from the general line, should be made to read:

"Loss of fifteen yards, points to be gained and number of down to remain unchanged."

It was also determined that all penalties for fouls, except penalties under forward pass, may be declined by the offended side. This, however, in cases where the penalty includes disqualification, does not save the player from being put out of the game.

Team Batting Ball Forward Loses the Ball.

The penalty for batting the ball forward is made loss of ball to the offended side and the ruling placed under the jurisdiction of the umpire and field judge. The field judge is also made timekeeper.

The score of a forfeited game is made 1-0, in order to distinguish it from any other possible scores.

Forward Pass Rule Changed.

The rule regarding forward pass is altered in the following manner: When the forward pass is legally touched, only the man of the passer's side who thus first legally touched it should be entitled to recover the ball until it has been touched by an opponent; also if a forward pass is thus legally touched, fumbled and touched by another player of the passer's side before the ball has touched an opponent the ball shall go to the opponents on the side where it was first illegally touched.

Important Points.

While the ball is in the air for a forward pass players of the defensive side may not use their hands or arms on opponents except to push them out of the way in order to get the ball themselves. Players of the side making the pass, who are eligible to receive the pass, may use the hands and arms as in case of players going down the field under a kick. Neither side may, however, "hold" or "tackle" an opponent who has not the ball.

Finally, in case a forward pass is illegally touched outside of these provisions named above, the penalty shall be that the ball shall go to the opponents at the spot from which the pass was made.

The committee strongly advises the use of all four officials as provided for.

Time is to be taken out during enforcement of penalty for incomplete forward pass.

Fifteen Minutes Intermission.

The ten minute intermission has been increased to fifteen, the referee to notify the teams three minutes before its expiration. Five minutes after this notification, if either team has failed to appear, the ball shall be put in play as first down by the offended side on the offending side's thirty yard line.

If a ball on a forward pass or a kicked ball, except try at goal, strike the uprights or crossbars, the ball shall be considered as having crossed the goal line.

In case of the ball accidentally striking an official the play shall be played over again.

The other alterations are practically only changes in the wording.

Baseball Philosophy.

The pitcher who lends a needy baseball reporter $10 will become known as a phenomenon much quicker than the pitcher who, though a better man, sends all his money home to his folks.

Many a rising young plumber gives up a three dollar a day job in the spring to show the world that he is the greatest pitcher the world has ever seen.

Two months later he will be found knocking at the door of a Kansas farmhouse to ask for a bite to eat and an invitation to sleep in the haymow.

The umpire is the lowest paid man on the field, yet he does the hardest work. Nobody fears him because he hasn't any friends. If he decides rightly, he loses his job. If he decides wrongly, he loses his job.

The fans, they tell not, neither do they spin, yet they always have the price of admission to the bleachers.

The man who comes into a game on a pass is always the hardest one to please.

Why is it that the puny little consumptive looking pitcher always strikes out the biggest, brawnliest batsman on the opposing side?

Hans Wagner is so bowlegged that one time Johnny Evers of Chicago slid to second base between Hans' legs while Hans was reaching up for the ball.

When a man applies for a job as an umpire he is first asked, "Are you a good runner, and do your folks care anything about you?"

Just before the seventh inning every genuine fan in every grand stand and bleachers in America stands up and stretches himself.

No ball player ever passed a hunchback without rubbing the hunch three times.

Many a ball player who is just now haughtily demanding a raise in salary for next season will in another month be on his knees begging with tears in his eyes to be allowed to put his name on a contract for $500 a year less than he gets now.

HANS WAGNER.

A roomy pedestal in the baseball hall of fame will have to be reserved for that lean and muscular gentleman of Pittsburg, Hans Wagner. He isn't an Apollo, but he can play more varieties of ball than any other man in the game and each variety better than any of the rival specialists. Wagner is a whole team in himself. Taken all around, he's the best thing that ever came out of Paterson, N. J.

A New York fan approached Barney Dreyfuss a few days ago and jokingly said, "Well give you eight Giants for Honus Wagner."

Dreyfuss turned pale. Holding up both hands in a gesture that betokened horror at the very thought, he said: "I live in Pittsburg. I have my wife and family in Pittsburg. I had my home in Pittsburg. Sometimes I want to go back to Pittsburg to my home. If I sold Wagner for der whole team of Chianis I couldn't nefer go back. Dey'd kill me!"

ROGER BRESNAHAN, NEW YORK NATIONALS, ONE OF THE ABLEST OF ALL CATCHERS.

CHARLES HEBNER.

YOUNGEST MEMBER OF AMERICAN OLYMPIC TEAM.

Heberner is an athletic marvel. Only sixteen years old, he won a place on the American Olympic team as a swimmer. He has gone 100 yards under a minute and covered 220 yards in 2 minutes 36 seconds. He is a member of the Illinois Athletic club of Chicago. L. DeB. Handley, the New York swimming and water polo authority, who developed C. M. Daniels, the world's champion swimmer, says: "If any one shows a possibility of one day excelling the records of the 'human pickarel' (Daniels) it is this young Heberner lad. He is a wonder for his age."

Why Players, Playwrights and Managers Quarrel Over Profits

[From Our New York Dramatic Correspondent.]

CONTROVERSIES, arguments, quarrels and even fights have occurred over the profits accruing from successful plays since the dramatic world was known. In the basic nature of the stage this result must necessarily come. No one individual is ever responsible for the actual success or actual failure of a play. A dramatic success is the result of co-operation. If the play is good, then to be a success the portrayals of the leading roles must be capable and effective or the stage manager must be so clever as to teach the players to be effective or at least to seem effective.

A capable stage author is of no use without a capable producing manager. This statement would undoubtedly have become a stage truism had it not been equally true that a capable producing manager is of no use without a capable stage author. For if the stage author supplies the play, the producing manager supplies the opportunity, the stage manager and the company.

Distribution of Profits.

As a result of the interdependency of author and manager it is no wonder that "altercations" ensue as to whom shall belong the profits arising from highly successful plays. Legally and consequently actually these profits are distributed according to the provisions of a contract, for no manager would take a play and no playwright would write a play unless, as Shylock says, "it be so written in the bond."

But it has ever been the propensity of playwrights to look beyond the provisions of "the bond" when their "brain's offspring" has grown into unusual prominence, and the actor or actress who happens to lead the successful company invariably evidences the same failings by overlooking the terms of "the bond" and asking for a raise in salary.

To show what reason there may be for attempted and actual breakings of stage contracts it will be well to look into the amount of profit resulting from well known dramas.

In the case of the author's makings these have wonderfully improved since H. J. Byron had to sell his capital comedies, which later netted many fortunes, for a fixed sum down, usually about $2,500, and died a poor man.

Dion Boucicault was a playwright who may be said to have belonged to two generations, for the majority of his later successes came within the cycle of higher payments and bigger profits. Shortly before his death he stated that he had sometimes made as much as $200,000 a year by his pen.

Sir Augustus Harris and Mr. Pettit from a comparatively recent Drury Lane (London) success made $3,000 a week from authors' fees alone, and in addition the former made about twice as much again as manager.

Sydney Grundy is said to have realized $9,000 in royalties from a "A Pair of Spectacles" up to the two hundred and fiftieth night at its representation as well as a large sum down. This comedy after more than twenty years is still holding the boards and yielding a handsome income to all concerned.

Howard, Thomas, Fitch.

In this country Bronson Howard, Augustus Thomas, Clyde Fitch and others also have made large sums out of their plays. In Paris Victorien Sardou has made a large fortune out of his plays and other dramatists considerable incomes.

The salaries of actors and actresses have about doubled during the period mentioned, and it is only fair that they should enjoy their share of theatrical prosperity.

The managers' profits are not so easily determined, though it may be stated roughly that the producer makes about two or three times as much as the author, and as he runs greater risks this is quite reasonable, in spite of the objections of Henry Arthur Jones that he gets more than his just proportion.

Though actual figures are not available, it is generally understood that "Our Boys," produced at the Vaudeville theater, London, netted about $400,000, while "Charlie's Aunt," also first produced in London, probably holds the record, it having scooped in for its proprietors the phenomenal sum of $1,500,000. Yet these are still valuable properties, yielding a good income to this day.

"The Old Homestead and Others." Large sums of money also have been made from such plays as "The Private Secretary," "The Old Homestead," "The Sign of the Cross," "Shenandoah," which made over a million dollars; "The County Fair," "A Message From Mars," "Heid by the Enemy" and more recently by such successes as "The Music Master" and "The Lion and the Mouse."

The value of a theatrical production lies not in the star nor in the theater, but in the piece itself. The mere fact of production in New York, London or Paris creates a valuable property which may last for many years, perhaps for generations.

There is nothing in the world that pays so well and so quickly as a successful play or comic opera, and to be successful on the road in the United States or the English provinces it is only necessary in the first instance to produce the play in the principal city of either country.

The life of a successful play is difficult to gauge, but there are many now running that have been on the boards for twenty to thirty years, having become standard stock plays.

H. A. Jones' Lament.

Henry Arthur Jones complained that when he had received $15,000 from one of his plays the actor-manager who produced it had netted something like ago that he had made about $50,000 in royalties from a single melodrama and that the money was still rolling in at the rate of $500 a week. It is well known that Wilson Barrett paid him $150,000 in fees for "The Lights of London." He probably paid Herman and Jones quite as much or even more for "The Silver King."

"The Silver King's" Provincial Rights. There is a certain man in London who is and has been for many years better known successes, still it can be said that almost any moderately good play can be made to pay well if it is only produced in a satisfactory manner—that is, with adequate stage management, a good cast and judicious and original advertising. In these days the clever press agent is a factor in the exploitation of dramatic offerings.

The rapid growth and improvement in vaudeville may slightly affect the theatrical situation, but the only change will probably be that the inane musical comedy and the cheap melodrama will find themselves displaced by the high class turns of the variety houses. Good comic opera and genuine drama must, however, always maintain their place.

New Victor Herbert Musical Play.

Victor Herbert and Glen MacDonough have written a new musical comedy entitled "Algeria" which will be put on at the Broadway theater, opening Aug. 31. George Marion, for many years general stage manager for Henry W. Savage, is staging the piece. In the cast will be Ida Brooks Hunt, William Pruette, Katharine Hutchinson and others.

Winston Churchill's novel, "Mr. Crowe's Career," is being dramatized and will be produced in November.

Dustin Farnum of "The Virginian" fame has secured "The Squaw Man," in which William Faversham successfully starred, and will play it on tour. Just how Farnum's southern drawl can be prestidigitated into the English accent necessary for the playing of the former Faversham role it is difficult to imagine.

Mme. Alla Nazimova has as yet announced nothing new in the way of a production, her manager stating that "she will tour a repertory of forceful, classic dramas."

Lulu Glaser.

Lulu Glaser will star in a musical comedy, "The Girl Who Dared," originally entitled "The Girl in the Bar-bucks," an English adaptation of a German farce.

BRAKEMAN KILLED

Was Found Mangled by Cars in Western Avenue

The body of Kenneth E. Pierce of 36 Puffer street was found at four o'clock yesterday morning lying beside the tracks in the Western avenue yards of the Boston & Maine railroad. His chest was crushed in the ribs and back were broken, and one arm was torn off.

The man evidently fell from a train about three o'clock in the morning. Undertaker Molloy was called when the body was discovered about 4 o'clock, and removed the body to his rooms. Later it was taken to the rooms of Undertaker C. M. Young, where the remains were viewed by Medical Examiner J. V. Meigs. No death return was given out, however, as the medical inspector wished to talk with the crew of the train from which Pierce fell, before deciding as to the cause of death.

He leaves a wife, one son, and one daughter.

CATHOLIC NOTES MRS. HARRY THAW

New Church Will Open Sept. 6

Passed as Miss Douglass in Boston

A new golden cross has taken the place of the old weather vane on the spire of the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, formerly the Branch Street tabernacle, which will be opened for service by the French Catholics of that section of the city on Sept. 6th. Painters and decorators have been busy for the past few weeks renovating the church edifice within and without, while altars are being installed. The new church will make a most cozy place of worship.

At St. Patrick's church yesterday, the Sacred Heart sodality, composed of boys and young men, observed their regular communion Sunday. Through a misunderstanding, some of the members attended the 7 o'clock mass, which was sung by Rev. Fr. McHugh, who was assisted at communion by Rev. Fr. Fitzgerald, while the other members attended the 8.30 mass. In all over 500 received the sacrament.

The parochial schools will open on the Monday after Labor day as will the public schools.

DEATHS

HASTINGS—The many friends of George Hastings, aged 32 years, 3 months, of 6 Richmond street, will be pained to hear of his death which took place late Sunday afternoon. His death will be a great shock to all because of his short sickness. He was a young man of exceedingly fine character, and leaves a wide circle of friends. Besides his father John and his mother Sadie, he leaves one brother, Arthur, and two sisters, Elizabeth and Mrs. Henry Halligan. Funeral notice later.

BROWN—Catherine Brown, a well known young woman of this city, a devout and popular member of St. Peter's church, died Saturday night at the Lowell General hospital after a short illness. She leaves a father, Patrick Brown and two brothers, Dennis and James Brown. The remains were removed to the home of her brother, James Brown, 348 Stackpole street by Undertaker M. H. McDonough & Sons.

The funeral will take place Tuesday morning at 7.45 o'clock from the home of her brother, James Brown, 348 Stackpole street. Funeral mass will be sung at St. Peter's church at 9.15 o'clock. Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons in charge.

PERRY—Mrs. Helen J. Bliss Perry died at the home of her sister, 23 Bridge street. She is survived by her husband, George M. Perry of Saratoga Lake, N. Y., and a daughter, also of Saratoga Lake, three sisters, the Misses Gertrude and Mary Bliss of Lowell and Mrs. C. H. Woods of Oakland, Cal., and one brother, Mr. William Bliss of Rockland, Ill.

MITCHELL—Charles Mitchell, infant son of John and Alice Mitchell, died yesterday at the home of his parents, rear of 57 Adams street, aged nine months.

FUNERAL NOTICES

DUNLAP—Julia Dunlap, aged 55 years, died last night at the city hospital and today the remains were removed to Undertaker J. J. O'Connell's parlors in Central street. The funeral will take place on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock from the Sacred Heart church at 2 o'clock.

ANNIVERSARY HIGH MASS. An anniversary high mass will be sung at the Immaculate Conception church on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock for the repose of the soul of the late Patrick Duffy.

BOSTON, Aug. 24.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw has been in Boston for three days, having, as her companion declared, "the time of her life." But she was not known here as Mrs. Thaw. To every one but her companion and to a prominent Somerville physician, who was called to attend her, she was Miss Douglass.

Her companion called herself Mrs. H. Leonard-Griffith, but it was learned she is Frances Paon, who formerly lived at 12 West street, Somerville.

The two young women arrived in Boston last Thursday and registered at the Thorndike, under the names of Griffith and Douglass. They seemed to have plenty of money and spent it freely. Miss Douglass bought a new "pill-box" hat on Boylston street for $65 as one of her purchases.

Then they went out to enjoy themselves. The next heard of them was on Friday morning when they left the Thorndike and went to the hotel Lenox. Mrs. Griffith did the talking to the clerk there. She said they had just come from New York and might remain two or three days. They were given adjoining rooms, and in the afternoon continued their pleasure excursion.

The next heard of them was on Friday night about 11 o'clock. At that hour a small boy rang the bell at the residence of Dr. C. W. Stiles, on Winter Hill, Somerville, and said he was needed very badly at a house a little way down Broadway, where a lady was very ill, and "would he please hurry."

The physician dressed and went to the house, conducted by the boy. In a lamp room in the yard of a fine looking house opposite School street he was shown a young woman unconscious. She was pale, had lost one shoe, and was very distressed. Her companion, a tall blonde, was crying and weeping over her and urging the doctor to make haste.

The physician soon saw that the illness of the young woman was not serious, but he prescribed that she be taken to her home immediately.

To this the companion demurred. Such a thing was impossible, she said, as neither of them lived in Somerville. The physician then declared he would call the police and have the sick woman taken to a hospital.

"Oh, don't do that," exclaimed the blonde woman. "It will kill us if this ever gets out. You don't know who she is. It mustn't get out."

PERSONALS

Miss Marietta Mulvey of Whipple street and Miss Margaret Bapow of Pawtucketville have returned after a very pleasant vacation spent at Beverly beach and Swampscott.

THE HIBERNIANS

Will Hold Their State Convention in Lynn This Week

LYNN, Aug. 24.—The biennial state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, to be held here next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, will be of special interest not only to Lynn, but to Essex county, on account of the plan to elect James Ryan, a member of division 7 of Lynn, its president for a half-dozen years, and also for a number of years president of the Essex county division, as state vice president. Mr. Ryan was nearly elected to the office at the last biennial in Fall River. Delegates have already commenced to arrive and by this evening it is expected that there will be fully 1500 present, and there will also be large numbers of the women's auxiliary delegates, whose convention will be held at the same time. All of the divisions and auxiliaries of Lynn have appointed reception committees with Michael J. Ahearn of division 7, chairman.

Odd Fellows' hall, corner of Market and Summer streets, and Casino hall, Summer street, have been engaged for the conventions, and the auxiliaries will occupy the former. This evening there will be a ball in Casino hall, in honor of the delegates, given by the Essex county Hibernians.

At 8.30 Tuesday morning the delegates will assemble at Casino hall and march to St. Mary's church, where there will be a solemn high mass, to be celebrated by Mgr. Arthur J. Teeling. Rev. Francis P. Hannan of Nantuxet, Rev. J. Noonan of St. Mary's sub-deacon, Rev. T. A. Curran of the same church master of ceremonies. Archbishop O'Connell will preside at the mass. The chaplains to the archbishop will be Rev. James E. Chittick of Hyde Park, chaplain of the Norfolk county division; Rev. Philip J. O'Donnell of the South End, chaplain of the Suffolk county division, and the sermon will be by Rev. John McLaughlin of Adams, state chaplain of the order.

The business session will open in Casino hall at 12.30 and the convention of the auxiliaries in Odd Fellows' hall. It is understood that the work of this convention by both organizations will probably not be completed before Thursday night. It is expected that both state presidents will be re-elected.

Tuesday evening occurs the convention banquet, and this will be served in both halls, as the city is without accommodations for so large a number of delegates to attend in one place. After the dinner, in one hall, in Casino hall for the postprandial exercises. Mayor Porter, who will greet the candidates early in the morning and extend to them the greetings of the city, will respond in the evening to the toast "City of Lynn."

Fr. O'Donnell will speak for the church. Mgr. Teeling's toast will be "Catholic federation." Congressman Ernest W. Roberts will represent the United States, National President Matthew Cummings of Boston will have as his toast "The Ancient Order of Hibernians." Mrs. Mary E. McCarthy of Somerville, the national vice president of the auxiliaries, will speak for her organization.

State Pres. Rogers will also speak for the order. Mrs. Katherine O'Keefe-Mahoney of Lawrence will respond to the toast, "The Irish race." Patrick J. Halligan of Washington, D. C., will talk on "The Irish in the American Revolution," and Ex-Alderman William P. Conner of Lynn will talk on "Irish Music." There will also be singing by John J. Kelley, William H. McNamara and others.

THE LOWELL DELEGATES

GOT SEVEN MONTHS

Severe Sentence for Larceny of Liquor Imposed by Court

John H. Donohoe is evidently a lover of "wet" goods for on the night of the first of July he entered the storehouse of Leroy G. Hall and "pinched" five gallons of gin, six quarts of whiskey, two and a half quarts of cherry wine and two and a half quarts of Tom & Jerry. Donohoe, however, had a bad memory and knew nothing about the stuff.

A Mr. Harvey, in the employ of Mr. Hall, stated that on the night in question he saw Donohoe enter a cellar window. A little later he saw Donohoe trying to push a bag out through the window, but finding that the bag was too large for the opening he took other stuff.

George H. Fry testified that he made an entry of the contents of the cellar and found certain quantities of liquor missing after making an examination after the larceny.

A local bartender testified that Donohoe offered him a bottle of Tom & Jerry for a pint of beer. Patman, James Donohoe told of being notified of the attempt that Donohoe made to exchange the bottle of Tom & Jerry for beer.

He was sentenced to seven months in jail.

Powell Ray, who has been before the court before, was sentenced to the state farm, the sentence was suspended and he was placed in the hands of the probation officer.

Terrence McQuade made his 23d appearance, it being his third within a year. He will spend the next month with Harry Shaw at the Lowell jail.

James P. Scully, a second offender, was given a suspended sentence of two months in jail.

HOUSES BURNED

1500 Homes in Constantinople Destroyed

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 23.—A great fire that started this afternoon is raging in the Standard quarter of the city.

A strong wind carried the flames at great speed, and for six hours the swept over the section, destroying 1500 houses and shops.

TENNIS PLAY

WAS RESUMED AT THE TENNIS CASINO TODAY.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 24.—After two days of rest, tennis was resumed at the Casino today, again under favorable conditions, with fine turf and cool, clear weather. The four matches in the sixth round of the all-comers' tournament were on the card of the day, with the prospect that with good weather the semi-final might be reached tomorrow, the finals on Wednesday and the challenge match with Wm. A. Larned as defender on Thursday.

It has been many years since the national tournament has been carried through so many days. The committee decided today that the match which was likely to develop the most interest was that between F. B. Alexander of New York and F. J. Sulloway of Boston, and this match was played on the championship court. In the other three matches played against N. J. Cotter of Philadelphia; Nat Evanson of Chicago against J. D. E. Jones of Providence and Beals C. Wright of Boston met Hugh Torrance of New York.

The favorites before play began were Alexander, Cotter, Emerson and Wright.

Passengers on the steamer Republic that arrived in Boston Sunday morning from Europe were Cornelius E. Collins and William L. Gookin, who made a tour of the British Isles and had a most enjoyable trip throughout. On the same steamer were Miss Catherine T. Leanen and Miss Young Lemaitre, who made a tour of several of the European countries.

FOR NO LICENSE

Law and Order League Holds a Big Meeting

About 1000 persons, men, women and children, gathered on the South common yesterday afternoon to hear what the speakers for the Law and Order league had to say for the no-license cause. It was another in a series of meetings for no-license and it was opened at 4:30 by Rev. John T. Gilson and the audience was an attentive and an orderly one.

Rev. J. M. Craig, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the first speaker. "What the Law Can Not Do, Education Can," was his subject and in part he said:

"There is no question on earth which compares with this temperance question, and the agitation of such a question is for the good of every man, woman and child in the land. Does every man who uses any kind of alcoholic liquor or malt, beverage, or gin contain a strong poison? If I go into a drug store and buy arsenic, and use it, I am poisoned. But on the bottle is a sign poison, and a red skull and cross bones. If every glass of intoxicating liquor was labeled with a sign 'poison' and with a skull and cross bones, I am sure that there are some men who would not drink it."

"A while ago the director of the department of charities of France sent out statements which were challenged by every wine grower, brewer, and seller in the whole nation of France. They rose up and bombarded the government. France is a wine-growing country, and the government investigated the statements of the director of the department, and found every one of them absolutely true."

"The government immediately, as is the custom over there, placed the walls of the public buildings, and public places with the following statements:

1. "Alcoholism is chronic poisoning resulting from the use of alcohol, even if such use does not produce drunkenness."

2. "It is an error to say that alcohol is necessary to a working man."

3. "Alcoholism is good for nobody, but works harm to everybody who uses it."

4. "Alcoholism frequently results in insanity."

5. "It is one of the most frequent causes of tuberculosis."

6. "It enhances and aggravates all acute diseases."

"Why is a large police force necessary? I am told that Lowell has the largest police force of any city of its size in New England. I believe that this is the result of having saloons here. It should be eradicated."

"This is not quoting from a one-eyed cold water fanatic. It is from calm and accurate investigation by a government and in a wine-growing country."

Thomas H. Raymond of Cambridge was the next speaker and his subject was: "The Needs of the City." He said in part:

"The Pride of New England," said Thomas Jefferson, "is in its town meetings." The city is nothing but a larger town, with meetings of the council and board of aldermen in place of the town meetings."

"These officers of the law are supposed to govern in their meetings as the people would govern should they hold town meetings of their own."

I sympathize with the working man. Down in Cambridge where I come from we have had no saloons for years, and God grant that we may have none ever again. So long as I have a voice I will fight against the saloons, and I know whereof I speak."

"I come here to plead that every man, woman and child in this city may have a chance."

"You spend money for the sick of your city. You spend money for parks and good streets, and I am glad to see that. But what does it mean when the statistics show that you accepted $125,000 for liquor taxes during the past year? It means that you sold every man, woman and child in this city for $125 per head. Am I right? And you cannot measure a human life in dollars and cents. Where is the man living who can tell what Abraham Lincoln was worth to this world. Where is the man living who can tell what Jesus Christ was worth to this earth."

"The city needs to allow every man to have his chance and that will not happen until the saloon is wiped out."

A man once came to me and said that rum was a good thing because he could get a man to work for him for less wages if he was a drinker than if he was a sober man. I sympathize with a man who has to sell himself to an employer because in a moment of drunkenness he gives in and signs a contract to work for less money than he is worth."

"Why is a large police force necessary? I am told that Lowell has the largest police force of any city of its size in New England. I believe that this is the result of having saloons here. It should be eradicated."

THREE SENATORS

Studying Banking Systems of Europe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The subcommittee of the national monetary commission of the United States which has been studying the English banking system has concluded its sittings in London. The subcommittee, consisting of Senator John W. Daniel of Virginia, Edward B. Vreeland of New York and Jesse Overstreet of Indiana, from the house of representatives, have gone to Paris to continue the investigations. Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island, accompanied by Professor A. P. Andrews of Harvard university, will proceed to Berlin to get some special articles prepared by experts on banking. Senator Eugene Hale of Maine and Theodore E. Burton of Ohio are on their way to New York.

Senator Aldrich is the man who introduced the senate currency bill to relieve the money stringency, but it was severely criticised throughout the country as being favorable to the banks rather than to the people. It was rejected by the house and after a lot of discussion and amendments it was dropped for the emergency currency measure that is now law. Senator Aldrich stands on a level with Henry Cabot Lodge as one of the national leaders of the republican party.

Senator John W. Daniel is a confederate soldier, who attained considerable prominence during the Rebellion, and was wounded often. After the war he studied law and was admitted to the bar. He has written several books and is considered one of the ablest men in the United States senate. He was democratic elector at large in 1872 and delegate at large in national democratic conventions in 1880-1885-1892-1898-1900 and 1904. He entered congress in 1884 and was elected to the senate to succeed William Mahone in 1887. He has since been re-elected and his present term will expire in 1911.

Senator Hale of Maine is also a distinguished figure in the senate and a man who exercised a great influence in the councils of the republican party. He served in the 41st, 42nd and 43rd congresses. He was appointed postmaster by President Grant in 1874, but declined. He served through the next two congresses and was tendered a republican office by President Hayes, which he also declined. He was elected to the U. S. senate in 1881 and has been steadily re-elected ever since. His term will expire in 1911.

Dame Says He Shot Him in Self Defense

DOVER, N. H., Aug. 24.—A tragedy which is stirring Dover profoundly was enacted at the home of Night Porter Walter S. Stirling, an elderly man, shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday morning, when he was shot dead by Special Policeman J. Edward Dame, 35 years old, who with his wife, formerly a ward of Stirling, lived in the Stirling home, 133 Portland street.

The shooting followed an altercation in the narrow passageway between the house and a chamber in the stable. There were no witnesses to the affair. It appears, as it is said that Mrs. Dame was in bed at the time.

Dame discharged his revolver twice, the first shot going through the roof and the other entering Stirling's left breast just above the heart and severing a large blood vessel, causing instant death.

Dame immediately telephoned the police station. Patrolman William H. Roberts was on duty, and he and Dame said he had shot Stirling in self-defense, and asked to have a physician sent up as quickly as possible. City Physician Young and another doctor reached the house together and found Mr. Stirling dead.

IN SELF-DEFENSE. Meanwhile Loren Worster, who lives in the next house, walked to Franklin square and told Patrolman Thomas Fedy and Special Policeman William Scanlon of the shooting. They hurried to the Stirling house, where Dame awaited them on the doorstep with his revolver in his hand. Dame said, as they mounted the stairs: "God, I surrender to you. Here's my gun. I cannot tell just how it happened. I shot him in self-defense."

After a survey of the scene of the tragedy Fedy started with his prisoner to headquarters, leaving Officer Scanlon on guard.

Asked how the shooting happened, after his arrest, Dame, with an apparent effort to keep from sobbing, replied: "I did it in self-defense. I could never have done it for any other reason. I cannot tell just how it happened. I shot him in self-defense."

Hughes as counsel.

From interviews obtained from intimate friends of Patrolman Stirling it is learned that his contemplated marriage was a contributing cause of the tragic affair yesterday morning. Mr. Stirling was a widower, his wife having died two years ago last October. It was the wish of Mrs. Stirling, expressed shortly before she died, that her husband should marry again.

About a year ago he became acquainted with a woman known as Emma Moore, living here. They became engaged, and the announcement caused a stir among his family and immediate friends.

It was hinted that the woman had a husband living. Mr. Stirling received an unsigned letter to that effect. Greatly disturbed, he began an investigation, resulting, it is stated, in his learning that the woman's husband was living and that she had not been divorced. He is Albert Sweet, formerly of Lynn, but now an inmate of the Soldiers' home at Fagus, Me.

This revelation did not altogether shake Mr. Stirling's faith in the woman with whom, it is said, he was deeply in love, but it caused him much anxiety and worry.

It was also stated that since Mrs. Sweet and her husband separated, she had lived 19 years as housekeeper for a man named Scarborough, and that she came with him from another state to this city, leaving his employ, it is said, after she became acquainted with Mr. Stirling.

When Mr. Stirling had his annual vacation this summer he went to Boston, accompanied by Mrs. Sweet. On his return he was so changed in appearance that his friends hardly recognized him. He had been looking badly before his vacation, but after his return from Boston he appeared to have undergone a severe mental strain. Ordinarily he was one of the most jovial of men, but for several weeks past this attitude toward his friends has been conspicuously lacking.

There was trouble in his home, the Dames trying to dissuade him. It is said, from marrying the woman. He was determined, however, in taking that course, and it is said that divorce proceedings between the Sweet, had been instituted, and that the marriage would take place as soon as the divorce was secured.

Mr. Kern also briefly outlines his conception of the presidential office. "Just exactly," he says, "as the vice president is really the servant and not the master of the senate, so do I believe that the president himself is not to be, nor attempt to be, the master of congress. This government of ours is a representative government. It is not to be divided into one legislative department, the hard hand of the president, or into two legislative departments by the determining use by the president of the power of patronage."

"My conception of the presidency, it is proper for me to express it here, is that it should remain as the constitution declared it should be, distinctly an executive office."

WILDER DEFEATED LOWELL'S GAME

Lowell Boy Put Up Great Match New Bedford Defeated in a Close With Travis Contest Saturday

MANCHESTER-BY-THE-SEA, Aug. 24.—An intensely interesting and closely contested match W. J. Travis of Garden City, L. I., won the final round in the first division of the Essex County club golf tournament from H. H. Wilder, Vesper club, Lowell, Saturday afternoon. Not until the 17th hole did the veteran player lead his brilliant and determined opponent and then only by perfect play. In the last two holes could he defeat him. The match was the concluding one of the largest and most successful tournament yet held by the club and was witnessed by a large gallery, which was well repaid, for many very interesting situations developed during the match and many brilliant shots.

The first hole was halved at five, and Wilder took the lead at the second. Travis made a hole drive a ball going into the long grass not more than 50 yards from the tee. Wilder was on the green in two and won the hole with a four.

Travis evened the match at the next hole, as Wilder's second shot took him beyond the green and he lost with a five. The fourth hole was an easy four for both players and the fifth was likewise halved at five. At the sixth hole Wilder topped his drive, but got out of the hole by a most brilliant brassy shot right to the green, making it easy for Travis to take the hole at four. Travis drove what looked to be out of bounds at the seventh hole, but close investigation showed the ball right on the line in the deep grass. A very clever shot put it on the course and he was on the green in three, but Wilder made an easy four and won the hole. Travis taking three putts and scoring a six.

The eighth hole showed brilliant work on the part of Wilder. His first shot looked to be out of bounds, but struck the stone wall and fell fair. His second shot brought forth the greatest applause of the match. With his brassy he sent the ball with perfect direction fully 200 yards to within eight feet of the hole, making it in four and taking the lead two up. The ninth hole was halved, both players going to within a foot of the hole on their second shot.

The tenth went to Travis in three, Wilder making no distance on his second, taking five for the hole. The 11th hole showed Wilder at his best. His second shot went too far to the left and landed in the long grass within a foot of a tree on the side of the course. Travis being well on the green. It seemed almost impossible for him to recover from such a lie, but to the surprise of everybody, in the most extraordinary manner, while backed up against the tree, he landed within eight feet of the hole, making it possible for him to have it in four. Travis missed a great chance to even up the match in the 12th. His drive took him to the green. Wilder sliced to the left and fell short on his approach shot. Travis getting within five feet of the hole. An easy putt would have won the hole, but in some unaccountable manner he failed and halved at four.

The 13th went to Travis and evened up.

His match. Both were on the green in two, but Wilder was weak on his third and lost by one stroke. The 14th and 15th holes were perfectly played by both players and halved in four. Again on the 16th Wilder showed his ability to get out of difficulties. His drive was very bad, slicing off far to the right and landing within a few feet of one of a group of buildings. His only chance was to play away from the green, and even to do that was most difficult. He was successful, however, and landed over 100 yards to the right, with Travis close to the green on his second shot. Wilder's third shot was a beauty, being high and accurate and falling on the edge of the green, with Travis about six feet from the hole in three.

Wilder's next shot was a perfect stymie for Travis. The latter made a great try, however, lifting his ball over Wilder's and rimming the cup. Wilder thus being very fortunate to keep the match all even with a four. Wilder lost the 17th hole by driving out of bounds, and it was tough that he should do so, as his next drive was almost perfect and landed within a very few feet of the hole. Travis had also driven the green and won the hole with a very long putt, but Wilder ran down his putt, also, but lost the hole, two to three, by losing the stroke for going out of bounds.

Travis won the 18th hole and match. Both were on the green in three, but Wilder missed his second putt and was beaten five to six.

The card follows:

Travis.....5 6 4 4 5 4 6 5 3-42
Wilder.....5 1 5 4 5 4 4 4 3-35
Travis.....3 4 4 4 4 4 5 2 5-35
Wilder.....3 4 4 4 4 4 5 2 5-35

In the final round for cup in the second division was won by W. W. Reed, who defeated A. G. Southerland in a rather uneven match, 5 up and 4 to play, and R. M. Purves won the cup in the third division from R. G. Shaw, 4 up and 3 to play.

There were about 600 spectators at Washington park Saturday p. m. to witness the game between Lowell and New Bedford. The threatening weather of the afternoon had something to do with the attendance as did the game played at Spaulding park.

The grounds were rather muddy for good playing, but the fans saw some fast work despite the poor condition of the grounds.

The hit made by Howard in the first inning was the 29th made by him this season.

"Dumpty" Connolly, the long winded pitcher, was on the slab for the visitors, while Warner did like service for the Tigers. Umpire Connolly called the game at 3:15 o'clock.

FIRST INNING

The first inning was finished in quick order, neither side scoring. Barrows, the first man up, sent a fly which Magee caught. Corcoran struck out and O'Brien hit a hot grounder to Warner, and the latter threw him out at first.

In Lowell's half Vandergrift went out on strikes. Magee flied to O'Brien. Howard singled over second base and Beard struck out.

Score—Lowell 0, New Bedford 0.

SECOND INNING

Both sides were out in one, two, three order in the second-inning. Lord flied to Magee. Delave flied to Beard. and Harrison went out on a fly to Cox.

In the latter half of the inning Connor flied to Barrows. Wolfe struck out and Cox hit to Connolly and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 0, New Bedford 0.

THIRD INNING

In the third inning Duff flied to Magee. Weeden hit between left and center field for what is ordinarily a two-bagger, but Howard was there with the run and grabbed the ball. Connolly hit to Vandergrift and was out at first.

Lowell got after Connolly in the latter half of the third inning and scored two runs. Doran opened by sending the ball to Lord and going out at first. Warner slammed out a two-bagger. Vandergrift got a single and Warner went to third. Magee hit to left field for a two-bagger, scoring Warner. Howard flied to Barrows and Vangergrift scored. Magee went to third on a passed ball. Beard hit to Connolly and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 2, New Bedford 0.

FOURTH INNING

In the fourth inning Barrows hit to Wolfe and was retired at first. "and Corcoran flied to Howard. O'Brien got a scratch single, the first hit by visitors, but Lord was third out on a fly to Magee.

Connor hit to Connolly and was out at first. Wolfe bunted to Connolly, who fumbled and the runner was safe. Connolly got ready to pitch the ball and Wolfe started for second, and before the New Bedford players could notify their pitcher that Wolfe was stealing, the Lowell man reached second in safety. Cox hit to Lord and was out at first. Wolfe going to third. Doran was third out on strikes.

Score—Lowell 2, New Bedford 0.

FIFTH INNING

Delave flied to Howard, but Harrison reached second on Beard's fumble. Duff flied to Doran and Connolly hit to Wolfe and died at first.

Lowell scored another run in the latter half of the inning. Warner hit to Duff, who fumbled and he got on first. Vandergrift bunted the ball along the first base line and beat it out to first. Warner going to third. Magee hit to Lord, who threw Vandergrift out at second, but Warner scored. Magee tried to steal second and was thrown out. Howard struck out.

Score—Lowell 2, New Bedford 0.

SIXTH INNING

In the sixth inning Connolly hit in front of the plate and was thrown out at first by Doran. Barrows hit to Warner and died at first. Connors hit to deep left field and Magee grabbed the sphere, making the third out.

Beard hit to Corcoran and was out at first. Connor then drew the first base on balls given during the game.

Wolfe hit to Corcoran, forcing Connor at second and Cox flied out to Barrows.

Score—Lowell 3, New Bedford 0.

SEVENTH INNING

O'Brien hit along the first base line to Cox and was out. Lord followed, hitting to Wolfe and being retired at first. Delave hit to Warner and was out at first.

Doran singled and went to second on a balk. Warner struck out. Vandergrift sacrificed, sending Doran to third. Magee struck out.

Score—Lowell 3, New Bedford 0.

EIGHTH INNING

Harrison hit one that Warner knocked down, but Vandergrift threw bad to first and the runner went to second. Duff got hit by a pitched ball and he walked to first. Weeden flied out to Connor. Then Doran made a beautiful throw to second to get Harrison and the latter was doubled up between the bases. Adler, the heavy hitter, was put in to bat for Connolly and Warner struck him out.

In the latter half of the eighth Murray went into pitch for New Bedford. Howard flied to Barrows and Beard flied to Lord. Connor hit to Delave, but the latter fumbled. Then Wolfe flied to Delave.

Score—Lowell 3, New Bedford 0.

BASEBALL NOTES

Worcester at Lowell today.

Today's game is the only one this week and the team is playing fine ball.

Lowell should defeat Worcester today.

If the team continues to play as it did the past week it will end the season in a blaze of glory.

Worcester defeated New Bedford at Rocky Point yesterday by a score of 9 to 1.

The season will close on September 19. About a dozen more home games.

Knight should make a good shortstop for the New York Highlanders, as he plays this position much better than, third base.

As New Orleans and the Boston Nationals both claim Pitcher Chapelle, the national commission will have to decide the case.

Earl Moon, the old Cleveland pitcher, is doing fine work for Jersey City, and will go with the Phillies in about three weeks.

Fred Lake, the Boston American

ATHLETIC NOTES

Jim Wray, Harvard's rowing coach, has returned from England, where he has been making a study of the methods used in the Olympic and other regattas. Wray is one of a number of men who do not let the grass grow under their feet and think they know it all. His success in coaching is largely due to the fact that he always has his eye on what the other fellow is doing.

The committee for the Senior Metropolitan championships have added a mile walk to the program. This shows that the athletic advisers realize that we, as Americans, are weak in the old time event and are going to encourage this branch of sport so that at the next Olympic we will not be caught napping.

R. E. Walker of South Africa, who started the world a short time ago by breaking the world's record in the 100-metre dash, was timed by incompetent officials, says the Sporting Life of London. "The mile run was clocked in 4 minutes and 6 3-5 seconds, which requires a lot of swallowing," says the same paper, and this is quoted as further evidence that the timing was off color.

Mike Murphy, who had charge of the Olympic team, has performed his duty to the satisfaction of everyone. He has earned for himself a glory all his own and which has in a measure its own peculiar satisfaction. However, the reception committee should not overlook the great trainer in its haste to do honor to the "conquering heroes."

Percy Sellen of the Irish-Canadian A. A. broke the five mile Canadian record last Wednesday. Besides lowering the record of 4 seconds, covering the distance in 26 minutes and 21 seconds, he incidentally gave Tom Longboat such a bending that the Indian was all in and finished some 200 yards behind the winner.

VESPER COURSE

GOLFERS WERE IN GOOD TRIM ON SATURDAY

Brilliant golf was the order of the day at the Vesper course Saturday. In the second round of the August cup match Knapp defeated Clark. Stuart defeated Boardman. Sweet defeated Brock, by default, Eaton beat Putnam, J. K. Whittier defeated Hoadley, and Atwood defeated Cryser.

The scores in the match play (baggy) were:

M. Gulline	3 down
L. F. Sherman	1 down
J. K. Whittier	4 down
J. S. Smith	4 down
C. F. Western	5 down
J. A. Gutheim	7 down
C. H. Tucker	9 down
E. K. Atwood	10 down
H. S. Cryser	No card
W. L. Muzey	No card
H. E. Sweet	No card
H. E. Shaw	No card
B. W. Putnam	No card
M. Neen	No card

*Tied for second and third prizes.

DINNER TEAM MATCH

A dinner team-golf-match at the Country club will be played on Sept. 12 at the island, with men 35 years of age and under against men older. The captain of the younger men is to be T. T. Clark of North Billerica, and that of the older men, A. H. Moros. All contestants are to play from scratch in match play, each match to count one, and to be played to a finish in the morning or afternoon. A circular with full particulars will be mailed later. All desiring to enter will send their names to either of the two captains.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

Rules and entry blanks for the 24-hour endurance run which is to be conducted by the Bay State Automobile association on Sept. 23 have been issued. The run will cover a distance of approximately 215 miles, the route being from Boston to the White mountains and return, the outward trip being along the north shore and through Newburyport, Portsmouth, Rochester, North Conway and the Crawford Notch, Bretton Woods, and a one-hour stop at another point for lunch.

In drafting the rules for this contest the committee has kept in mind that it is intended to be a thorough test of the reliability of the cars rather than a test of the endurance of the drivers. As it is a test of cars only the rules permit the carrying of spare drivers, and changes may be made at any of the controls upon notice to the checker. There will be three controls each way outside of Boston and Bretton Woods, so the trip will not be arduous on the pilots. Another excellent feature of the rules is the requirement that the observers shall be practical operators, acceptable to the committee. This is to insure a complete and careful record of the actual performance of each car. The test will start at 10 a. m. on Sept. 23, and it is expected to finish early in the afternoon of the following day. If there is one positive winner a silver cup will be awarded; if there is a tie all perfect score cards will be given certificates. The driver making the most consistent performance will receive a gold watch.

During the daytime a pilot car will mark the route with a flag; at night the pilot car will carry a red searchlight on the rear and will precede the leading competing car by two minutes. There are to be two classes—A, for touring cars, and B, for runabouts, roadsters and tourabouts. Enough entries have been assured to make it evident that at least 50 cars will participate.

A. H. Ackerman, who recently made a trip from Albany to Utica in a Studebaker electric Starlight, tells of the following amusing incident that occurred about 50 miles from Albany. "We drew up to a garage, and I inquired 'Can we get any juice?' meaning, of course, current. Imagine my surprise when the man appeared a moment later carrying a five gallon can of gasoline. It was only after much explanation that I convinced him that I was not what I wanted, and he directed me to an electric lighting plant some two or three miles away."

Consul Sackett of Prescott reports

on the use of motor vehicles in that district of the Dominion of Canada: "Comparatively few motor vehicles are owned here. There are perhaps half a dozen in Brockville, three in Prescott and a few elsewhere scattered about the district, but for some reason their use has not become common. Nor is this, in my opinion, for reasons of expense. There is much wealth among the people. I cannot find that there is any regular agency in the district for the sale of motor carriages. There ought to be such an agency and it is my belief that a car of moderate cost would find good sale. If such sale were pushed by the personal appeal of a good agent. The roads of the district are no better nor are they any worse than is the case in the average country section, while the main thoroughfare, each and every, along the St. Lawrence river bank is much of the way macadamized and far better than the average highway, and its scenic attractions are hard to duplicate anywhere. There is hardly a day during the season when automobiles do not cross the St. Lawrence here by ferry from the United States, en route to Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa or other points of interest to tourists and pleasure seekers through Canada. This section is well worth prospecting by the manufacturers of a safe, hardy, moderate priced automobile of American make."

It is at length being recognized, in this country at any rate, where there are probably more motors on the road than anywhere else, that the remedy must come from within, and the various clubs and organizations are bestirring themselves seriously with a view to putting a stop to inconsiderate driving, says the London Field. The automobile association, which for some time pursued a course calculated to defeat the objects of the police traps, has now issued instructions to its patrols which have a distinctly repressive influence on the inconsiderate driver. The white badge, which used to be the signal of a clear road, has been abolished and a serious attempt is being made to co-operate with the police in every way that a considerate motorist would commend.

All cases of reckless driving are reported to headquarters and are suitably dealt with by the committee, and it will be interesting to note how this policy will work out in the long run. When the cars were first compelled to carry number plates a great deal of nonsense was talked about being branded as criminals, and it was said that the numbers were too big. Nevertheless, the vast majority of cases where it has been desirable to get the number of a car it has been a difficult matter to do so. Number plates are frequently so placed as to be difficult to read, sometimes of set purpose, as for instance, on the front axle, and it would not be at all a bad thing if stricter regulations were made in this respect. In competitions the officials find it necessary to use much bigger numbers in order to facilitate identification.

Lowell Man Jumped From Train Into River

When he jumped from the rapidly moving train just this side of Tyngsboro Saturday, William Payson of Lowell was shot over a 50 foot embankment and into a deep eddy of the Merrimack river. The conductor of the train had seen him swing over and in fact had tried to reach him in time to stop him. He signaled the train to stop, and one of the brakemen jumped into the river and got hold of Payson just in the nick of time. When the two were finally brought to the shore both were greatly exhausted and first aid to drowning persons was applied to both. Payson had refused to pay his fare and had been threatened

WORCESTER VETS

Got a Special Prize of $50 to Soothe Disappointment

The Worcester Vets and those of Berwick, Me., have been awarded a special prize of $50 by the judges of the Merrimack river. The prize was awarded to the veterans of the Merrimack river, Friday, by judges of the New England handball tournament at Lowell, Thursday.

Word was received in Worcester a few minutes prior to an indignation meeting at the Exchange street home of the association, Friday night. The Worcester vets were told an extra $50 was added to the prize money and awarded to them for the fine appearance they made in line.

While the Gen. Putnam veterans say they will accept the $50, with thanks, they say they will not withdraw from the contest. The prize was awarded to the veterans of the Merrimack river, Friday, by judges of the New England handball tournament at Lowell, Thursday.

It was decided that whoever is elected delegate to the New England handball tournament annual business meeting in January, will be instructed to make a vigorous kick to get that $50, and, if necessary, a bunch of affidavits, or living witnesses, to what they call their case. It will be sent to the meeting in Providence for a hearing.

The Worcester men say they have statements from several members of the Nashua veteran's association, to the effect that they were hauled into the Lowell ranks, almost by force, and that with all their 40 or more men, the Lowell company succeeded in showing but three more in line. Worcester's official count, by the judges, was 113 men, while Lowell combined with Nashua, showed but 121.

While the Worcester men were in Lowell, there was no talk of special prizes for them. Acting Foreman Hastings meant business. At length, when the protest was filed, formally, a special prize was secured up. As the Triumph company, from Berwick, Me., also had fault to find, a special award of $100 was split between that company and Worcester. The award was made after the train for Worcester had left Lowell. The judges met at the Merrimack house prior to a banquet. When the Worcester protest was shown them, they asked questions, and it was said Lowell readily admitted the presence of Nashua men in their ranks. But they called attention to the fact that the bills specified men in red shirts, but did not specify companies doubling.

But they called attention to the fact that the bills specified men in red shirts, but did not specify companies doubling.

The members were unanimously in favor of removing the goose-neck entirely and replacing them by a straight connection. It was argued that all the hand-tubs with records are making them without the goose-neck connection. The boys said the goose-necks are only for ornament and their curves create friction to be overcome.

Aside from removing the goose-necks, the members say they intend copper lining the Gen. Putnam throughout. They have other improvements to be made, and when once completed they say they will put it against any hand-tub in or out of the New England league.

What proved to be one of the most enjoyable clambakes of the season was held at Burgess pond, Westford, Saturday, under the auspices of Court Wampanoag, M. C. O. F. Under the guidance of Chairman Henry O. Miner, the committee responsible for the venture worked very hard to bring the outing to its successful issue. From the time of arrival to their departure, the merry party, which numbers close upon 100 members and friends, found that nothing was lacking in the way of provisions and entertainment. The barge itself was most excellent, reflecting great credit upon Joseph D. Ryan and his two able assistants, James McKenna and Charles Thomas. Postmaster C. T. Scrabble was among those present and added to his popularity with the boys, several boxes of fragrant weeds being passed around at his expense during the afternoon. One and all expressed themselves highly satisfied at the conclusion of the afternoon's enjoyment.

WERE INITIATED INTO MOUNT HOBBE PRECEPTORY.

The regular monthly meeting of the Mount Hobbe Preceptory No. 17 was held Saturday night in Pilgrim hall, there being a large attendance. Considerable business was transacted during the meeting. Two members were initiated in the royal mack degree. The work was well performed by the preceptor and ably assisted by a past preceptor. There were two applications for the apron and royal blue degrees at the next regular convocation. It is expected the past state grand master will be present and assist in conferring those ancient degrees on that occasion.

NEWSY ITEMS
INTERESTING HAPPENINGS IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

London Commercial Intelligence draws attention to the fact that the new municipalities now being formed throughout the Canadian provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta must add largely in the next five years to the demand for steam road rollers, scrapers, fire appliances, lighting installations and other items of the municipal equipment; and there are also large contracts definitely in prospect for well boring, grading of highways, drainage, water and other public works.

Germany is freely imitating American patterns in the manufacture of farm implements and machinery, though American harvesters still predominate.

The state of Sao Paulo, Brazil, owns 7,700,000 bags of coffee stored in Europe and North America and 657,000 bags stored in Santos. The foreign cities of storage are Havre, Hamburg, Bremen, Antwerp, London, Trieste, Marseilles, New York and New Orleans.

In the six months ended March 31 last the gross earnings of the South Manchuria Railway company (Japanese) were $3,770,000 and the operation expense was $3,220,000, leaving a net profit of $550,000, but only $300,000 was paid out for dividends. In addition to the railway the company operates mines, harbors, lands, hotels and electric lighting. One hundred thousand dollars was carried to "reserve," and $45,000 was given as rewards to the officers. English capitalists have loaned $30,000,000 on the line. The rolling stock, bridges, etc., are very largely American made.

Outside of railway materials and other government supplies the total imports at Tientsin (China), Manchuria last year of Japanese products and manufactures amounted to only $750,000. That fact shows how little there is in the cry that Japan is discriminating in Manchuria against foreign goods. Wild gambling in exchange by the Chinese between Singapore and Hongkong has caused a loss of $5,000,000. Men with only $4,000 capital ran up liabilities of $500,000. Hence large part of the acute trade and financial depression in the Straits Settlements. Both exports and imports have considerably decreased.

The mineral output of the province of Quebec, Canada, in 1907 was the value of $5,381,000, an increase of $371,000 over 1906.

work of the diocese. Much important business, which will keep him busy until Christmas, awaits the bishop. Many new churches and schools, including the new Jesuit college buildings, are to be dedicated and several vacant rectories to be filled.

At the meeting of the board of consultants Bishop McDonnell announced the appointment by the pope of the Rev. Edward W. McCarthy, rector of St. Augustine's church, one of the members of the board to the rank of monsignor. Father McCarthy, who is one of the most popular priests in the diocese, has been in the priesthood for thirty-eight years and has been rector of St. Augustine's parish more than thirty years.

Bishop McDonnell said that he found Pope Pius in good health and very much interested in the progress of the church in America.

"The Holy Father," he said, "was graciousness itself. He was very, very kind."

With regard to his return trip on the Lusitania Bishop McDonnell said:

"The trip across was marvelous. Why, it was a record. Really there were times when I was sitting in my cabin that the vessel would be sailing so smoothly that I would go out on deck to convince myself that she was in motion."

In regard to the recent action of Father Mulvey, who resigned from the priesthood, the bishop said:

"I know nothing about the matter except the little I read of it while I was abroad, so I am not prepared to say anything. It is very sad news. Father Mulvey has not had good health and not all of his course as a student was what it might have been. Oh, this modernism, if constantly carried out, is nothing but a denial of the truths of religion."

DEMOCRATIC LIST

Of Precinct Officers in Mayor's Hands

Chairman Barrett of the democratic city committee has submitted his list of democratic precinct officers to Mayor Farnham and the secretary of the republican city committee announces that he will send his list in this week. The number of changes will not be beyond the usual number. The mayor has the right to appoint the precinct officers, but it has been a time honored custom to allow the chairmen to submit lists which the mayors invariably have approved. A special meeting of the board will be called during the week to consider the lists.

NEW RECORD

MADE BY SHERIDAN IN DISCUS THROW.

DUNDAL, Aug. 24—At the athletic games here yesterday Martin J. Sheridan beat the world's record with the discus of the Irish-American athletic discus free style, throwing the sphere 142 feet 5 inches. The discus was the one used at the Olympic games in London. The former record, which was held by Sheridan, was 135 feet 1-3 inch.

We desire to express our thanks to our friends and relatives, and to all those who during the hour of our sorrow and bereavement, expressed sympathy at the death of our son and husband, John J. Curtin. To those who sent floral tributes we are also sincerely thankful, while the kindness of Lowell Aeria, Engles, who carried out their burial rite at the home of deceased and also sent a beautiful floral tribute, and the degree staff of organization, the members of which sent a floral offering, will never be forgotten. To one and all we are deeply grateful.

THE REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN.

The campaign is now waxing warm. The republicans are laying their plans for a lively battle at the hustings, although in view of the panic now upon the country it is difficult to see on what grounds they can ask support of the people. That party still stands pat on the tariff that shelters the robber trusts; it still is loyal to these monsters which President Roosevelt has been unable to restrain; the party is not abashed by the panic affecting the whole country, and hence it continues the work of federal usurpation of authority and misconstruction of the constitution to suit its purposes. That party, to relieve the financial stringency, has passed a dangerous currency bill that suits the bankers more than anybody else; it maintains the old Philippine policy, the despotic rule of the speaker by which popular measures are debared from consideration in ebullience; it has refused to favor reasonable concessions on the injunction question or to grant a single measure of relief from the extortions under the excessive tariff. If returned to power the republican party, as some of the leaders have said, may revise the tariff upward instead of downward. No party so mortgaged to the trusts can serve the people.

The present situation has been well described by Congressman Burnett of Alabama in the following language:

"Never has the republican party gone into a campaign with as much slime upon its garments as it carries into the present one.

"Never has it gone into one where it has realized that its shortcomings, its sins, and its infamies are so fully known to the great masses of the people as at this time.

"For the last twelve years it has invoked the doctrines of the full dinner pail to bamboozle the people, and it has raised the cry of prosperity as the slogan for its success.

"Thousands of honest men have been deceived by the specious arguments of its spellbinders, and thousands of toilers have cast their ballots for its candidates because they believed that republican success meant bread and meat to their wives and their children, and that democratic victory meant hunger and want for those whom they loved. But you can't fool all the people all the time, and at last the greed of your vampires has caused the scales to fall from the eyes of the American voters, and your day of retribution is at hand.

"The objects of your republican care and benefactions had become so intrenched in their own arrogant lawlessness that they believed no power could ever drive them out. It would have been many a long year before they could have been dislodged but for the fact that they became so greedy with devouring the people that their insatiable maws forced them to turn to devouring themselves. Then it was that the light began to be turned on and the people began to see that the very foundations of their liberties were being threatened."

OPPORTUNITIES FOR THE FARMERS.

At the present time when almost every commodity necessary for household use is controlled by trusts and sold at enormous prices there is a great opportunity for the farmers of New England to produce their own oats, their own pork, beef and butter.

With oats at 75c a bushel the farmers could undoubtedly make money by raising this crop.

With the extortions of the beef trust which have sent the price of beef to the highest figure ever reached in this or any other country, the farmers could also derive a large profit by raising their own beef. Nay, they could go even farther and raise cattle to supply the New England market. That would be the best method of forcing the beef trust to reduce its prices.

The farmers of New England, it seems, are letting a great many opportunities pass that if availed of would bring them in liberal profits.

The vacant farms of New Hampshire are being reconsecrated and placed under tillage. The farms of Massachusetts should also receive more attention, the farmers should raise more cattle as well as a greater variety of crops so that in a short time they may be able to market their grain, their beef, their pork, their butter and eggs to good advantage and in opposition to the trusts.

THE WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS.

The woman suffragists of Massachusetts have proclaimed that they are to enter the presidential campaign for Taft and Sherman.

Can it be that they are all of the same political stripe? Seldom do we see a body of women display such harmony.

Possibly the democratic women who favor the election of Bryan and Kern are of the opinion that it is useless to start rattling old tin cans and making other discomfiting noises without having anything resembling a vote to back it up. In that opinion they are quite right.

The republican party has produced a panic, probably the worst in our history, and the "suffragettes" show questionable judgment by coming out in a campaign of wind to secure a return to power of this panic-making combination of the trusts and the republican party. The suffragists will not advance their cause by this course.

The encouragement given by various governments to the inventors of flying machines is bound, eventually, to result in a machine that will astonish the world by its power of flying from point to point with perfect dirigibility except where high winds or storms interpose to make such a feat impossible.

BIT OF A RIDDLE

Three for you, Kitty Kane, as you said but this minute.

Life's a square kind of riddle, a plague

Share, I know of, but wan compensation

that's in it.

Just wan thing that's so sweet it makes up fur the rest.

It begins wid a "y" and it ends wid a

"u".

You may pucker yer brow, that's as much as I'll tell.

An', besides, don't ye see, 'tis but my point of view.

You must work out your riddle o' life

fur yerself.

You must look fur your joy in another direction.

An' I beg you to light in yer innocent eyes.

Just a spark o' sweet pity to aid the inspection.

Since the thing is so small, an' so lowly it lies.

It begins wid an "m" an' it ends wid an "e".

Oh, 'tis little it merits your notice,

'tis true.

Still there's good in it, too, though that same may but be

A reflection of all that is sweetest in you.

Och! the bothersome riddle! I wonder now whether

We could make our luck better if we should combine?

Faix, I think if we'd fight put our two heads together

We could spell in wan word all your joy, dear, an' mine!

It begins wid a "u" an' it ends wid an

"e".

There's the sum o' my joy an' the sum o' yer own!

Och! the riddle o' life's so distressin' to guess.

Nayther wan of us, dear, could have solved it alone.

Lillian Russell, just in from Europe, had a secret, but she couldn't keep it.

She just had to tell someone, girl like

she. She has found the real way to prolonging the youth in her that makes her the envy of all women who believe that beauty talks, and here it is, in her own words:

"I am in love for the first time in my life and with a prince."

She didn't blush and polish her tell-tale liaison. She simply got dreamy looking about the eyes, and unconsciously played with a gorgeous string of pearls—the biggest pearls that ever approached New York harbor. And the pearls were given her by a Greek prince who lives in Athens.

It was in Paris that the woman who does not know how to grow old met the prince. She was seriously impressed with his own personality, his Greek profile, and she intuitively knew that his 35 years of life had not dulled him to a lack of appreciation of the "rather" good-looking woman who was slitting next him at dinner.

When Lillian Russell got in with her trunks she talked about everything, but she never mentioned love. It was only when the pearls were shown that she came out with it.

"It is not the people alone that made me know some great experience had come to me," she said. "Why, girls, honor bright, at night, while the stars in my safe, I think just the same thoughts of him and I look out at the stars and never, never do I wish the pearls were diamonds. There are moments when the greatest thing in the world is love. I have only now learned that lesson." Good for Lillian.

THEFT OF $173,000

Chicago Man Charged With Stealing From Uncle Sam

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—The mystery of the theft of $173,000 from the United States treasury a year and a half ago, one of the largest losses the government has ever suffered in this manner, is believed to have been solved by the arrest yesterday of George W. Fitzgerald. Others are believed to have been implicated in the crime which for months completely baffled government secret service men.

Fitzgerald was an associate teller under Assistant United States Treasurer William Boldenwreck. Suspicion at the time of the theft, Feb. 29, 1907, rested on him, but so plausible was his story and so intense his apparent interest in discovering the real culprit, that interest ceased to center in him. Much work was done on the theory that the crime had been perpetrated by a colored man. Meanwhile, Fitzgerald was discharged from the government employ for culpable negligence in allowing such a theft to be consummated under his very eyes. The money stolen had been used and was tied in packages, some having been marked for destruction at Washington. Any of the bills would readily have passed anywhere except for their large denominations. None of the bills was under $50 and some were of the $100 and $500 denominations, the $500 ones predominating.

The theft created a sensation throughout the country and congress at the last session was asked and refused to release Assistant Treasurer Boldenwreck from liability although it was promised that congress would again consider the matter in its session. Meanwhile, Herbert F. Young, a former Chicago newspaper reporter and now head of the Young Secret Service agency, became interested in the case, at first without official connection with the case, but later as the agent of Mr. Boldenwreck. Mr. Young's attention was redirected to Fitzgerald. The latter, upon his discharge from the sub-treasury, stated that his whole fortune consisted of $500 in cash and a stock certificate for $1000. His wife had a $500 interest in the estate of her mother, which was valued at about $1000 and was in litigation.

Fitzgerald, however, according to Mr. Young, embarked in speculation on a scale not consistent with the size of his reputed means. There was, however, no indication in Fitzgerald's life. In July, 1907, Fitzgerald inaugurated an egg deal which ultimately, it is said, involved an expenditure of $5000 and the following March a similar deal involved him, according to Mr. Young, to the extent of $15,000. Incidentally, the former teller had become the possessor, in his wife's name, of a neat brick residence in Rogers Park, a suburb of Chicago, and valued at $5000.

Last July the agent is said to have become known when Col. Harry C. Gano, a business man of prominence, reported to Mr. Boldenwreck. It is said that Fitzgerald had approached him with a proposition to pass several $1000 bills. After conferring with Mr. Boldenwreck, Col. Gano continued negotiations with Fitzgerald.

gerald with the result that by prearrangement several witnesses were secretly present when the former teller, it is said, passed two $1000 bills to Col. Gano. So far as known, Fitzgerald was not seen to pass any of the larger bills.

From the moment of Col. Gano's first interview with the assistant United States treasurer, it is said, detectives shadowed Fitzgerald. The trail, it is indicated broadly, involved others not only in helping Fitzgerald dispose of the money alleged to have been stolen, but in the very act of his having extracted it from the treasury vaults and later covering of tracks. It had not been intended to arrest Fitzgerald at this time as further evidence was not only wanted against him, but developments were expected which would conclusively involve others. However, it is stated that those under suspicion had obtained an inkling that untoward developments were going forward and it was deemed best to waste no time in securing the man charged with being the principal.

Shortly after midnight yesterday morning, Judge Chetlain at his home issued a bench warrant for the arrest of Fitzgerald, charging him with the larceny of $173,000 from the government vaults.

Detective Young with Detective Joseph Kinder of the state's attorneys' office climbed into a high power automobile and for the better part of an hour ignored all speed regulations in a rush to Rogers Park.

Fitzgerald appeared at the door in his nightgown and a pair of trousers. Mrs. Fitzgerald standing at the top of the stairs with white face and strained eyes, while Detective Kinder read the warrant. Fitzgerald listened to the reading with composure, kissed his two young children good-bye and left his almost hysterical wife to enter the automobile with the officers.

"They've caught him at last—they've caught him at last!" is the exclamation which Detectives Kinder and Young declare came from the lips of Mrs. Fitzgerald in the half hysterical state into which she fell when she comprehended the object of the officers' visit. Fitzgerald himself merely remarked: "I suppose you want me to go to jail; guess I'd better go along."

Behind the bars yesterday, he refused to see newspaper men but held a conference with his attorneys, Q. I. Innes and C. I. Litzinger. John M. Duffy, attorney for Mr. Boldenwreck, stated that today Fitzgerald would be removed from state to federal jurisdiction. The detectives, it is said, were unable to satisfy Mr. Boldenwreck's curiosity as to how much of the $173,000 it would be possible to recover. According to the speculation already mentioned, it is stated that Fitzgerald was interested in other deals, and Detective Young is authority for the statement that Fitzgerald had become financially involved before the colossal theft with which he is charged, and that the prisoner had been implicated in other thefts prior to the coup of Feb. 29 of last year.

SULTAN BEATEN

DEFEATED BY FORCES OF HIS BROTHER.

TANGIER, Aug. 24.—The defeat of the sultan, Abd-El-Asiz by the forces of his brother, Mulai Hafid, has been confirmed. The sultan of record was surprised on the night of August 19 and most of his troops deserted to the side of the usurping sultan, after the firing of a few shots. Reports indicate that the defeat of Abd-El-Asiz was due largely to the betrayal of his own tribesmen. Mulai Hafid has been proclaimed sultan of Morocco at Tangier and announcement of the proclamation has been telegraphed to all parts of the country. All the officials who previously have been under the rule of Abd-El-Asiz in this city declare that they have accepted Mulai Hafid as leader, thereby making him supreme in all the large cities of Morocco.

Details of the battle show that Abd-El-Asiz had an army numerically the superior of the enemy, but that his artillery either failed to work or was deliberately tampered with.

A Tangier newspaper states that the British officers and several of the French officers are missing.

ATTENDED MASS REV. SMITH BAKER

1200 Men of Fleet at Cathedral Service

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Aug. 24.—Four thousand men of the American fleet were permitted ashore yesterday and 1200 of these, including 134 officers, attended high mass in the cathedral. These services were impressive and special music had been arranged in honor of the Americans. Great crowds lined the streets and took quite as much interest in the parading sailors as on the first day of their arrival.

A banquet was given last night in the town hall by the Catholics to 1200 men and officers of the fleet, which was attended by the federal ministers, judges and other officials. Cardinal Moran, archbishop of Sydney, presided and president after which Cardinal Moran, in proposing "Our Guests," delivered a long historical address, showing that Catholics had advanced along the same lines of material prosperity and religious liberty in America and Australia.

The Rev. Matthew C. Gleeson, chaplain of the battleship Connecticut, responded in a brilliant address. He said that Sydney's reception surpassed any that the fleet had ever received, even at home. The magnificent hospitality of the Australians, he declared, would make an abiding impression in the hearts of eighty millions of Americans, who were truly kinsmen. America knew no religious problems, whether English, Scotch, Irish or other.

Among the most cherished memories of the visit that the Americans will carry away will be a tale kangaroo which Cardinal Moran, in presenting to the flagship Connecticut, delivered a long historical address, showing that Catholics had advanced along the same lines of material prosperity and religious liberty in America and Australia.

Admiral Sperry, Lord and Lady Northcote, Sir Harry and Lady Rawson and a large number of the officers and men of the visiting fleet attended the Anglican cathedral. The Baptists and Congregationalists united in service, which also was largely attended. Chaplain Stevenson of the Illinois, officiated at a Methodist service of the American and British blue jackets, while the Presbyterians worshipped in the town hall.

Following Saturday's storm, glorious weather prevailed yesterday. There was a gay scene in the harbor and the fleet was crowded with visitors. Saturday night a boat containing two American sailors and two civilians, equipped while crossing Woolloomoolloo Bay. All of the men were rescued, but one of the sailors had a narrow escape. "Tommy" Burns, the American heavyweight champion, will meet "Billy" Squires tonight in the roped arena for the third time. The local syndicate which is managing the fight to be held here and those to be held in Melbourne, has booked passages for Burns and Squires to England, so elaborate have been their preparations.

The syndicate has about $25,000 at stake, covering the fights between Burns and Squires in Sydney and between Burns and "Bill" Lang in Melbourne. For the fight tonight Burns is to be paid $10,000 win or lose, and $25,000 for expenses. Squires is to be paid $12,500 win or lose, which includes expenses.

For the fight in Melbourne with Lang, Burns is to receive an additional $5000 win or lose. Lang is the present heavyweight champion of Australia, while Squires formerly held that title. Burns in an interview last night said that he was suffering from a slight cold, but that he expected to win both fights very easily. Squires, who has already made but a sorry showing against Burns on two occasions, did not hesitate to assert confidently that he stood a very good chance of winning. He is in good condition and has undergone some training, the conditions here being more agreeable to him than in any of the foreign countries where he has fought. There is not much betting on the outcome of the Burns-Squires fight, Burns generally being a warm favorite.

Pendegast, the lightweight champion of the fleet, will meet Raff of Sydney, in a ten-round preliminary.

Preaches on the Immortality of the Soul

A familiar voice was heard at the First Congregational church yesterday morning and a venerable and familiar face looked down from the pulpit. It was the voice and face of Rev. Smith Baker, D.D., and a goodly crowd had gathered to hear the former pastor preach the last of his summer sermons. Dr. Baker has been substituting for Mr. Wilcott for several weeks and the congregation of the First Congregational church, has on each Sunday, been augmented by many from other congregations, friends and admirers of Dr. Baker, the earnest and forceful preacher.

His subject yesterday was "Other Worldliness," and in part he said: "The man whose only ambition in life is to get enough to enable him to eat well and sleep well is a failure. The farmer, who only cares about getting a fair crop of potatoes, or some other vegetable, will fail miserably. Let a man be born here to millions and do nothing but cut off coupons and he is the most contemptible mortal living; the worst failure of his side of hell. When a rich man lives only to enjoy himself he is a miserable man in all respects. Pleasure, recreation and amusement are right and proper, yet the great majority now is to live for these things alone. The great social weakness of the present time is to live for the present and to cast no thought of an endless life. This is sapping the life and strength and permanency of this American nation. We're no longer born better than were the citizens of Babylon or Greece or Rome. These great nations fell, and they fell because they needed no little the future and builded only for their present."

"It is only when a people live for the future, when the arts and the sciences are advanced, that the present is worth living. A present which means something, that is the only thing worth living in the end. Wherever you find a nation, heathen or Christian, which does not believe in the immortality of soul, which does not look out into the blackness of the future and see some great light shining, wherever you find such a nation then you will also find that it is weak and dissipated. Without the power of an endless life to awaken such nations, to enquire their morals, they are doomed to positive failure.

"Immortality, I believe, is not confined to one class any more than to another. The proportion of rich, cultured men's sons who go down to miserable degradation is as great as the proportion of the sons of the poor who make failures of their lives. "There is nothing in culture of itself that restrains from doing wrong. Look at the vandalism of almost unbelievable crimes in our daily papers, faithful records of what the rich and cultured classes, as well as of the poorer classes, are doing. Can you believe, after reading them, that it is culture alone which saves anybody from a low moral standard?

"In Europe and Asia of the greatest cities in the world they represent two different phases of life. London, the English metropolis, still, in the main, holds to the religion of Jesus Christ. There are bad spots in the great city, but the city considered as a whole is Christian. London sends out annually ten times as many Bibles as the rest of the cities of the world put together. The good old God-fearing religion, the religion of Jesus Christ, finds its greatest center there.

"Across the channel, in France, is the other great city—Paris. It is superior to London in art and in science, yet it is the most corrupt city in the world. If science and culture and art and wealth made archangels, then Paris would be the center of them, would be the most moral, instead of the most immoral city in the universe. "One thing to go by nowadays, when looking into the habits of mind of a nation, is the number of suicides. In London, last year there were 73 suicides to each million of inhabitants. In Paris this rose to 561 per million. One of these great cities teaches the immortality of the soul; the other teaches agnosticism, unbelief and immorality.

"A man is dead, indeed, who has no thought of the endless life. All the wealth of the globe cannot satisfy, all the culture, all the ephemeral joys of dissipation and entertainment cannot stop the yearnings of the human soul for something higher, better. For the human soul is bigger than wealth and culture and mere pleasure."

"If this life is all, it is only working and suffering, then I would not blame multitudes from jumping into the river. For with great impetus, with weakness, with temptation, with sickness and sorrow, what a lot of life there is not the belief in the human soul and the endless life. There is nothing, I tell you.

"But, when there is the belief in the eternity of everlasting truth, of growth in love and power, what are 20, 30 or 40 years of suffering here below, compared with them? Women, crushed by poverty, by disappointment, by unrequited love and passion, have met the world with their unyielding belief in the everlasting life, and have lived sweet noble lives. Their belief has been stronger than all else in life, and it will make saints of them.

"Let this belief enter the heart and soul of the young man and you will see him strengthened, almost before your eyes. He is dignified by it, too, his sins, his temptations, are beneath him."

"The agnostic at the grave of the departed one is more cruel than hell itself. He offers not a thing to comfort the human heart. Take a boy of mine and make of him a drunkard if you will, but leave in him the faith in an endless life. There is immeasurable difference between the utterable blackness of unbelief and the endless glories of belief in the immortality of the human soul."

LOUISIANA MEN

Won Race for the Battenburg Cup

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Aug. 24.—The 12-oared cutter race this morning between crews of the battleships Blais and Louisiana for the Battenburg Cup was won by the Louisiana men. The distance was three and a half miles and the winners finished 17 lengths in the lead. It is said that about $20,000 changed hands as a result of the race. It is becoming evident each day that the visitors prefer to be left alone rather than have to undergo the discomfort of the hot sunbath. Antecedent to the race the Louisiana men had won the prize of the privilege of theatre tickets.

The marines have addressed a letter of thanks to the people of Sydney in which they say "If other places think they can surpass Sydney's welcome, they must take the ships' word."

One of the men on the battleship Governor Charles Cady was drowned yesterday through the capsizing of a small boat in a squall. A sailor of the Illinois fell off a stage in Woolloomoolloo Bay and has not been seen since.

The tender Yankton and the collier Ajax arrived here today.

Rear Admiral Sperry has declined the invitations extended to the officers of the fleet to visit Perth.

KNIVES AND GUNS

Were Used in Riot at Middletown, Connecticut

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Aug. 24.—When the state police made a raid on the place of Peiro Maloni, which is located in Green place and surrounded by tenements occupied by five hundred or more Italians, a riot ensued. The occupants of the tenements swarming into the streets and opening on the officers inflicting injuries with stones, bottles and other missiles. One of the officers then drew his revolver and fired into the crowd, hitting, but only slightly wounding, two Italians. The crowd then drew knives and charged the state police, who were having a hard time of it, when rescued by the local police. Five other places were raided.

It was said by neighbors, although the local police refused to discuss the matter, that the places the state officers went to were private houses and none of them were saloons.

WORCESTER
Burkett 3b
Reynolds 1b
Bradley 2b
Logan 2b
Russell 2b
McCune 2b
Owens 2b

FIRST INNING.
Neither side scored in the first inning. Burkett opened with a base on balls and went to second on Schwartz's sacrifice. Reynolds drew a free pass. Bradley hit to Wolfe, who threw to second and then the ball was sent to first base for a double play.

In the latter half of the inning Vandergrift flied to Russell. Maggie hit to Logan and was out at first, while Howard flied to Schwartz.

SECOND INNING.
In the second inning Logan hit to Conner and was out at first, and Blackburn hit to Doran and flied a similar death. Russell drew a base on balls but McCune hit a grounder to Wolfe and was out at first.

In Lowell's half Beard hit to Owens and was out at first, Conner flied to McCune and Wolfe flied to Russell.

THIRD INNING.
In the third inning Owens struck out, Burkett hit to Conner and died at first while Schwartz flied to Maggie.

Cox flied to Logan, Doran hit to Blackburn and died at first while Duval struck out.

FOURTH INNING.
In the fourth inning Reynolds hit to Duval and died at first. Bradley sent the ball over second base for the first single made during the game, but he died there for Logan hit to Conner and was out at first and Blackburn struck out.

In the latter half of the inning Vandergrift hit to Blackburn and was out at first, Maggie flied to Reynolds and Howard flied to Burkett.

FIFTH INNING.
Russell drew a base on balls. McCune followed with a base on balls and the latter threw to Wolfe, getting Russell at second, and Wolfe sent the ball to first base for a double play. Owens hit to Wolfe and was out at first.

In Lowell's half, Beard struck out and Conner hit a high liner over Blackburn's head. The latter jumped and made a pretty catch. Wolfe flied to McCune.

SIXTH INNING.
Burkett and Schwartz flied out to Maggie who made two pretty catches. Reynolds hit to Duval, and was thrown out at first.

For Lowell, Cox was passed to first. Doran struck out and Duval sent up a foul fly that McCune took care of. Cox tried to steal second and was thrown out.

SEVENTH INNING.
Maggie made a dandy catch of Bradley's high fly. Logan got a base on balls but was doubled with Blackburn's moment later by some fast fielding on the part of Lowell. Blackburn drove a grounder to Conner, who threw to Wolfe getting Logan at second. Wolfe sent the ball to first, completing the double play.

In Lowell's half Vandergrift flied to Schwartz and Logan took care of Maggie's grounder and threw him out at first. Howard flied to Logan.

EIGHTH INNING.
Russell bunted to Vandergrift who threw the ball to the right field bleachers. Russell tried to make third on the misplay but Cox made a pretty throw to Vandergrift who nailed the Worcester man. McCune and Owens hit grounders to Vandergrift and were retired at first.

Russell hurt his hand in sliding to third and was obliged to retire. Singleton was sent to third for the visitors. Schwartz was shifted to center field and Burkett took care of left garden.

For Lowell, Beard hit to Logan and went out at first. Conner then got Lowell's first hit, a single, over second base.

Wolfe struck out and Conner tried to steal second on the third strike and was thrown out.

NINTH INNING.
Burkett was hit by a pitched ball and walked to first. Schwartz hit a hot one that Duval knocked down but could not recover in time to get his man. Burkett took second on the play.

Reynolds was hit by a pitched ball filling the bases. Bradley singled to third base scoring Burkett and Schwartz. Logan hit to Wolfe and Reynolds tried to make home but was thrown out at the plate.

Logan and Bradley worked a double steal and Bradley scored. Blackburn struck out and Singleton flied to Wolfe.

Cox hit to Logan and was out at first. Doran flied to Logan. Warner went in to bat for Duval. He got a single to center field. Vandergrift hit to Singleton, forcing Warner at second.

Score: Worcester 3, Lowell 0.
Hits—Lowell 2, Worcester 3.
Errors—Lowell 1, Worcester 0.

There was a new face holding down a seat on the Lowell bench today. He answered to the name of Fred Hogan and had come from Fort Banks and is highly recommended by Mac. Hogan is a twister and will be given a tryout during the week.

LAID AT REST BARON IS DEAD

Funeral of John J. Murphy Today Was Ambassador to United States

The funeral of the late John J. Murphy took place this morning from his home, 127 Cross street, and was largely attended. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's church, where at 9 o'clock, requiem high mass was sung by Rev. Timothy Callahan. The choir under the direction of Mr. M. J. Johnson, rendered the "Missa Defunctorum." At the offertory, the choir sang "Domine Jesu Christi" and after the elevation, James E. Donnelly rendered "O Meritum Passionis." At the conclusion of the service the choir rendered "In Paradisum." The bearers were Dr. P. J. Meehan, P. J. Noonan, John E. Farrell, James Healey, John J. Burns and P. J. Kerwin. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery, Rev. Fr. Callahan officiating at the grave. The funeral was in charge of Rev. John E. Meehan and the interment was in charge of Undertaker C. H. Molloy & Sons.

Among the floral tributes laid upon the grave were the following: "Large yellow lilies 'Husband' from wife of the deceased; broken sickle on base inscribed 'Brother' from Patrick Murphy; large standing cross on base inscribed on ribbon 'My Will Be Done' from his wife, Miss Ellen Farrell; a large basket of choice flowers, a shield in center inscribed 'R. I. S.' and the letters 'N. A. P. O. C. U.' around the circumference, sympathy of Lowell postoffice employees; yellow lilies 'Tote' from Passaic; a large basket of choice flowers, Miss Callahan; and Miss Nellie Lillie; large wreath of choice flowers from Mr. and Mrs. Martin Duffy; cross on base inscribed 'Friend John'; Mr. E. J. Murphy; wreath on base from Mr. Wm. Collins; wreath on base inscribed 'Coach' from Farrell family; stars and crown on base inscribed on ribbon 'Good-bye, John'; Mr. and Mrs. James Healey; large standing cross on base, the letters 'L. C. B.' inscribed on base from members of Lowell Club; and cross on base inscribed on ribbon 'A True Friend' from Meehan family; spray of asters from Mr. and Mrs. August P. Farley; spray of asters from Miss Louise Nichols and Miss Kate Murray; spray of roses from Mr. Wm. E. Cunningham; spray of asters from Mrs. Mary Valentine; Miss Mary Power and Miss Lillian Landry.

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Aug. 24.—Baron Speck von Sternburg, the German ambassador to the United States, died in the Hotel Victoria in this city about midnight last night. The baroness, who was Miss Lillian May Langham of Louisville, Ky., was with her husband to the end.

The baron and baroness came here from Hamburg the end of last month to consult with Professor Vincenz Czerny, a skin specialist, concerning a malady from which the ambassador has been suffering for some time. After a prolonged examination of the diseased part on the left side of Baron von Sternburg's head, Prof. Czerny affirmed that the trouble was not cancer but a lupus, and that he could cure it. Both the ambassador and his wife were immensely cheered at this opinion, which was duly communicated to the foreign office at Berlin. A representative of the foreign office came down here to see the baron and upon his return to Berlin, the favorable news, it is understood, was transmitted to Emperor William and forwarded to the German embassy at Washington.

Baron von Sternburg is described as having felt that his long agony was nearly over, although he had suffered many disappointments with regard to his illness. His wife also shared the hope that he would soon recover.

It had been arranged that the baron should go to Berlin in September to be received in audience by Emperor William previous to his return to Washington. It was thought desirable that the ambassador be at his post during the concluding weeks of the presidential campaign.

No arrangements yet have been made for the funeral of the ambassador. The baron's father who is 81 years old, lives on the family estate near Dresden and it is possible that the funeral will take place there.

NOT DOUETTE'S SISTER.
Mrs. Mason of Riverside street, at 100 Exchange Street, was charged with the murder of her husband, John Mason, who was killed by a train at the city hospital. Mrs. Mason is a sister of the dead man as was previously reported.

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER.

POLICE OFFICER

Will Be Charged With Conduct Unbecoming An Officer

Lawyer Dennis J. Murphy is going to prefer charges against Patrolman Charles H. Hersey on the ground that he hasly arrested George Mason Saturday night. The petition, which is in the course of preparation, will also charge the officer with neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming an officer.

Mason was proceeding through Central street when he was approached by three fellows, one of whom it is said, was Joseph Donovan. While two of the fellows held his arms, Donovan, as it is alleged, went through Mason's pockets, took the contents, and ran away. Donovan got as far as an electric light and upon examining the papers and finding them worthless returned to Mason and said he was a special officer, but if Mason would give him enough to purchase a pint of whiskey he would return his papers. Mason humored Donovan and pretended that he was going to give him the money, all the time waiting to get an officer to arrest Donovan. When they reached the corner of Charles and Central streets Patrolman Hersey and Donovan had a man under arrest and Mason, grabbing Joseph Donovan by the arm, asked the officers to arrest Donovan, claiming that the latter had robbed him. Instead of arresting Donovan, however, the officers arrested Mason.

About the same time Tejliran, came along and Mason calling him to one side asked him to inform his brother-in-law that he was under arrest. Tejliran went to execute his errand, but finding that the store conducted by Mason's brother-in-law was locked he returned to the box, whereupon he was placed under arrest and it is charged, clubbed by Patrolman Hersey.

Patrolman Hersey declared that Mason was "drunk and drunk" and "drunk" and his testimony was corroborated by Patrolman Donovan and Joseph Donovan.

Mason said he never drank any intoxicating liquors in his life and that he was arrested by Patrolman Hersey while endeavoring to have the latter arrest Joseph Donovan, who stole certificates from him.

Tejliran also testified that he never drank and it was while trying to perform an errand for his friend, Mason, that he was arrested. Tejliran testified that Patrolman Hersey struck him over the left eye and the back of the head before the patrol arrived and after he had been placed in the wagon the officer poked him again.

After the testimony had been presented, Judge Pickman found Mason and Tejliran not guilty and ordered them discharged.

The charges which are to be preferred come as a result of the arrest of George Mason and Elijah Tejliran at the corner of Charles and Central streets on Saturday night by Patrolman Hersey and D. C. Donovan.

In police court this morning Mason and Tejliran were charged with drunkenness and through their counsel, Dennis J. Murphy, entered pleas of not guilty. According to the testimony of neither man ever touched a drop of intoxicating liquor.

Mason is employed in one of the local mills, but finding that his weekly stipend is not sufficient to meet his demands he sells stock in a proposed western railroad. Saturday night he met a man in Appleton street.

Tejliran also testified that he never drank and it was while trying to perform an errand for his friend, Mason, that he was arrested. Tejliran testified that Patrolman Hersey struck him over the left eye and the back of the head before the patrol arrived and after he had been placed in the wagon the officer poked him again.

After the testimony had been presented, Judge Pickman found Mason and Tejliran not guilty and ordered them discharged.

The charges which are to be preferred come as a result of the arrest of George Mason and Elijah Tejliran at the corner of Charles and Central streets on Saturday night by Patrolman Hersey and D. C. Donovan.

In police court this morning Mason and Tejliran were charged with drunkenness and through their counsel, Dennis J. Murphy, entered pleas of not guilty. According to the testimony of neither man ever touched a drop of intoxicating liquor.

Mason is employed in one of the local mills, but finding that his weekly stipend is not sufficient to meet his demands he sells stock in a proposed western railroad. Saturday night he met a man in Appleton street.

Mason said he never drank any intoxicating liquors in his life and that he was arrested by Patrolman Hersey while endeavoring to have the latter arrest Joseph Donovan, who stole certificates from him.

Tejliran also testified that he never drank and it was while trying to perform an errand for his friend, Mason, that he was arrested. Tejliran testified that Patrolman Hersey struck him over the left eye and the back of the head before the patrol arrived and after he had been placed in the wagon the officer poked him again.

After the testimony had been presented, Judge Pickman found Mason and Tejliran not guilty and ordered them discharged.

6 O'CLOCK INJURIES FATAL

John J. Connors Died at St. John's Hospital

John J. Connors, of 19 Watson ave., who fell down a flight of stairs, late Thursday night and suffered a fracture of the skull, died late Saturday, as a result of his injuries.

The deceased was 45 years of age and is survived by a wife, Catherine; two daughters, a mother, Bridget Connors; two sisters, Elizabeth and Ellen; and two brothers, Edward and Thomas of Troy, N. Y.

BRAKEMAN KILLED

Was Found Mangled by Cars in Western Avenue

The body of Kenneth E. Pierce of 36 Puffer street was found at four o'clock yesterday morning lying beside the tracks in the Western avenue yards of the Boston & Maine railroad. His chest was crushed in the ribs and back were broken, and one arm was torn off.

The man evidently fell from a train about three o'clock in the morning. Undertaker Molloy was called when the body was discovered about 4 o'clock, and removed the body to his rooms. Later it was taken to the rooms of Undertaker C. M. Young, where the remains were viewed by Medical Examiner J. V. Moles. No death return was given out, however, as the medical inspector wished to talk with the crew of the train from which Pierce fell, before deciding as to the cause of death.

He leaves a wife, one son, and one daughter.

CATHOLIC NOTES

MRS. HARRY THAW New Church Will Open Sept. 6

A new golden cross has taken the place of the old weather vane on the small dome surmounting the entrance of the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, formerly the Branch Street Tabernacle, which will be opened for service by the French Catholics of that section of the city on Sept. 6. Painters and decorators have been busy for the past few weeks renovating the church edifice within and without, while altars are being installed. The new church will make a most cozy place of worship.

At St. Patrick's church yesterday, the Sacred Heart sodality, comprised of boys and young men, observed their regular communion Sunday. Through a misunderstanding, some of the members attended the 7 o'clock mass, which was sung by Rev. Fr. McLaughlin, who was assisted at communion by Rev. Fr. Fitzgerald, while the other members attended the 8:30 mass. In all over 50 received the sacrament.

The parochial schools will open on Monday after Labor day as will the public schools.

DEATHS

HASTINGS—The many friends of George Hastings, aged 19 years, 3 months, of 6 Richmond street, will be pained to hear of his death which took place late Sunday afternoon. His death will be a great shock to all because of his short sickness. He was a young man of exceedingly fine character, and leaves a circle of friends. Besides his father, John and his mother Sadie, he leaves one brother, Arthur, and two sisters, Elizabeth and Mrs. Henry Halligan. Funeral notice later.

BROWN—Catherine Brown, a well known young woman of this city, a devout and popular member of St. Peter's church, died Saturday night at the Lowell General hospital after a brief illness. She leaves a father, Patrick Brown, and two brothers, Dennis and James Brown. The remains were removed to the home of her brother, James Brown, 348 State street by Undertaker M. H. McDonough & Sons.

The funeral will take place Tuesday morning at 7:45 o'clock, from the home of her brother, James Brown, 348 State street. Funeral mass will be sung at St. Peter's church at 9:15 o'clock. Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons in charge.

PERRY—Mrs. Helen J. Bliss Perry died at the home of her sisters, 32 Bridge street. She is survived by her husband, George M. Perry of Saratoga Lake, N. Y., and a daughter, also of Saratoga Lake, three sisters, the Misses Gertrude and Mary Bliss of Lowell and one brother, Mr. William Bliss of Rockland, Me.

MITCHELL—Charles Mitchell, infant son of John and Alice Mitchell, died yesterday at the home of his parents, rear of Adams street, aged nine months.

FUNERAL NOTICES

DUNLAY—Julia Dunlay, aged 55 years, died last night at the city hospital and today the remains were removed to Undertaker J. J. O'Connell's parlors in Central street. The funeral will take place on Tuesday morning and there will be a high mass of requiem at the Sacred Heart church at 5 o'clock.

ANNIVERSARY HIGH MASS. An anniversary high mass will be sung at the Immaculate Conception church on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock for the repose of the soul of the late Patrick Dwyer.

HOUSES BURNED

1500 Homes in Constantinople Destroyed

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 23.—A great fire that started this afternoon is raging in the Standard quarter of the city. A strong wind carried the flames at great speed, and for six hours they swept over the section, destroying 1500 houses and shops.

TENNIS PLAY

WAS RESUMED AT THE TENNIS CASINO TODAY.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 24.—After two days of rest, tennis was resumed at the Casino today, again under favorable conditions, with fine turf and cool, clear weather. The four matches in the sixth round of the all-comers' tournament were on the card of the day, with the prospect that with good weather the semi-final might be reached tomorrow, the finals on Wednesday and the challenge match with Wm. A. Larned as defender on Thursday.

It has been many years since the national tournament has been carried through so many days. The committee decided today that the match which was likely to develop the most interest was that between F. J. Sullivan of New York and E. J. Sullivan of Boston, and this match was played on the championship court. In the other three matches G. S. Touchard of New York was drawn against W. J. Clothier of Philadelphia; Nat Emerson of Chicago against J. D. E. Jones of Providence and Beale C. Wright of Boston met Hugh Torrance of New York.

The favorites before play began were Alexander, Clothier, Emerson and Wright.

Passengers on the steamer Republic that arrived in Boston Sunday morning from Europe were Cornelius E. Collins and William L. Gookin, who made a tour of the British Isles and had a most enjoyable trip throughout. On the steamer were Miss Catherine T. Lawrence and Miss Yvonne Lemaitre, who made a tour of several of the European countries.

THE HIBERNIANS

Will Hold Their State Convention in Lynn This Week

LYNN, Aug. 24.—The biennial state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, to be held here next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, will be of special interest not only to Lynn, but to Essex county, on account of the plan to elect James Ryan, a member of division 7 of Lynn, as president for a half-dozen years and also for a number of years president of the Essex county division, as state vice president. Mr. Ryan was newly elected to the office at the last biennial in Fall River. Delegates have already commenced to arrive and by this evening it is expected that there will be fully 1800 present, and there will also be large numbers of the women's auxiliary delegates, whose convention will be held at the same time. All of the divisions and auxiliaries of Lynn have appointed reception committees, with Michael J. Ahearn of division 7, chairman.

Old Fellows' hall, corner of Market and Summer streets, and Casino hall, Summer street, have been engaged for the conventions, and the auxiliaries will occupy the former. This evening there will be a ball in Casino hall, in honor of the delegates, given by the Essex county Hibernians.

At 8:30 Tuesday morning the delegates will assemble at Casino hall and march to St. Mary's church, where there will be a solemn high mass, to be celebrated by Mgr. Arthur J. Teeling. Rev. Francis P. Hannawin of Nahant, Rev. J. J. Noonan of St. Mary's sub-deacon, Rev. T. A. Curtin of the same church master of ceremonies. Archbishop O'Connell will preside at the mass. The chaplains to the archbishop will be Rev. James E. Chittick of Hyde Park, chaplain of the Norfolk county division; Rev. Philip J. O'Donnell of the South End, chaplain of the Suffolk county division, and the sermon will be by Rev. John McLaughlin of Adams, state chaplain of the order.

The business session will open in Casino hall at 12:30 and the convention of the auxiliaries in Old Fellows' hall. It is understood that the work of this convention by both organizations will probably not be completed before Thursday night. It is expected that both state presidents will be re-elected.

Tuesday evening occurs the convention banquet, and this will be served in both halls, as the city is without accommodations for so large a number as will attend, in one place. After the dinner for all will assemble in Casino hall for the postprandial exercises. Mayor Porter, who will greet the candidates early in the morning and extend to them the greetings of the city, will respond in the evening to the toast "City of Lynn."

Fr. O'Donnell will speak for the church. Mgr. Teeling's toast will be "Catholic Federation." Congressman Ernest W. Roberts will represent the United States, National President Matthew Cummings of Boston will have as his toast "The Ancient Order of Hibernians." Mrs. Mary E. McCarthy of Somerville, the national vice president of the auxiliaries, will speak for her organization.

State Pres. Rogers will also speak for the order. Mrs. Katherine O'Keefe-Mahoney of Lawrence will respond to the toast, "The Irish race." Patrick J. Hattigan of Washington, D. C., will talk on "The Irish in the American Revolution" and Ex-Alderman William P. Convery of Lynn will talk on "Irish Music." There will also be singing by John Z. Kelley, William H. McNamara and others.

THE LOWELL DELEGATES.

The delegates to the convention from Lowell will start for Lynn this evening. They are as follows: Division 1—Joseph Fahey, Daniel E. Hogan. Division 2—Philip Hartley, Thomas Linnahan. Division 3—John Rourke, Thomas Dawson. Division 11—John Hickey, Patrick Hickey. Division 25—John Cotter, Daniel Rourke.

GOT SEVEN MONTHS

Severe Sentence for Larceny of Liquor Imposed by Court

John H. Donohoe is evidently a lover of "wet" goods for on the night of the first of July he entered the storehouse of Leroy G. Hall and "pinched" five gallons of gin, six quarts of whiskey, two and a half quarts of sherry wine and two and a half quarts of Tom & Jerry. Donohoe, however, had a bad memory and knew nothing about the stuff.

A Mr. Harvey, in the employ of Mr. Hall, stated that on the night in question he saw Donohoe enter a cellar window. A little later he saw Donohoe trying to push a keg out through the window, but finding that the keg was too large for the opening he took other stuff.

George H. Fry testified that he made an entry of the contents of the cellar and found certain quantities of liquor missing after making an examination after the larceny.

A local bartender testified that Donohoe offered him a bottle of Tom & Jerry for a pint of beer. Patrolman James Donovan told of being notified of the attempt that Donohoe made to exchange the bottle of Tom & Jerry for the beer.

He was sentenced to seven months in jail.

Powell Roy, who has been before the court before, was sentenced to the state farm, the sentence was suspended and he was placed in the hands of the probation officer.

Torrence McQuade made his 12th appearance, it being his third within a year. He will spend the next month with Harry Shaw at the Lowell jail.

James P. Scully, a second offender, was given a suspended sentence of two months in jail.

John F. Downs escaped with probation.

Charles Phillip, a third offender, who in fact appeared in court three times this month, was continued till Thursday morning.

Edward P. Martel, a third offender, had his case continued till next Monday morning.

Just because they could not speak the English language a quint of foreigners who got drunk, were fined $3 instead of $2. They gave their names as Peter Joseph, Frank Remick, Peter Dukasick, John Ploce and Charles Gillons.

There were seven first offenders who were fined the usual $2 and fifteen drunkards were released without appearing in court.

Among the second offenders who were fined $5, were the following: James P. Maguire, Annie McMahon, Annie McKenna, Timothy A. Harrigan, George Begun, Michael Fitzgibbon and Edward Shanley.

Patrick Brown, third offender, was sentenced to the state farm. Among those who will accompany him to the institution at Bridgewater are Owen McKenna and Charles J. Burns.

James Campbell, a paroleman from the state farm, will be returned to that institution.

Peter Johns, charged with assault with a knife on an unknown person, was arraigned in court this morning, but the case was continued till next Thursday. Johns and another man got into an argument last night about 8:30 o'clock and Johns, it is alleged, stabbed his opponent.

2:30 o'clock services were held at St. Peter's church, Rev. Fr. Burns officiating.

Among the many floral tributes laid upon the grave were the following: Pillow of roses, pinks and ferns with the inscription "John," from the wife of the deceased; large pillow of roses inscribed "Our John," from parents of deceased; standing clock and dial on base with the hands pointing to the time of death, 10:30, from the degree staff of the Fraternal Order of Eagles; wreath on base with white ribbon inscribed "Cousin," Miss Catherine Quirk; pillow of roses, pinks and ferns, inscribed "My Niece," from little Irene Curtin; pillow of roses, pinks and asters inscribed "F. O. E. No. 223," from the Fraternal Order of Eagles; standing cross and anchor on base, Mr. George Gray of Milford, N. H.; spray of asparagus, Mrs. Ellen Murphy and family; Vaughn, Johnson, Ames and Sabourin; spray of pinks tied with pink ribbon, Misses Ames and Catherine Sullivan. There were several other sprays from friends.

The bearers were all members of the degree team, F. O. E., consisting of Messrs. James J. Sheehan, Dennis Landry, Patrick J. McCann, Joseph T. McGillicuddy, E. McMahon and Charles C. Scholles.

There were friends from Boston, Gloucester, Milford, N. H., and Manchester, N. H.

Burial was in the Catholic cemetery, where the committal prayers were read at the grave by the Rev. John Burns. Burial was under the direction of Undertakers Higgins Bros.

FOLEY—The funeral of Miss Margaret E. Foley took place Saturday from the rooms of C. H. Molloy & Sons, Market street. A funeral mass was celebrated at St. Peter's church by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan. At the offertory P. P. Haggerty sang "O Salutaris" at the close of mass James E. Donnelly sang "He Wipes a Tear From Every Eye," and as the body was borne from the church the choir sang "De Profundis." The bearers were Mr. Whittemore, Mr. Barry, Mr. Guernier, Wm. and John Plante and Mr. Bernier. Among the floral offerings were the following: Large cross and anchor on base, inscribed "At Rest," from family of deceased; large pillow, Berkeley Eye and Ear Infirmary, Boston; spray of asters, Mrs. Plante and Mrs. Martin; and spray of Jacquemont roses, a friend. Services were conducted at the house by Rev. Fr. Heffernan, C. H. Molloy & Sons were the funeral directors.

HASTY—The funeral of Edward Hasty took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents, 4 Bay State court, and burial was in the Catholic cemetery. Undertakers Molloy & Sons had charge.

CURRAN—The funeral of Francis Curran took place yesterday forenoon from the home of his parents, 247 Dutton street, and burial was in the Catholic cemetery in charge of Undertakers Molloy & Sons.

ROLLINS—The funeral of James A. Rollins took place Saturday afternoon from his residence, 138 West Sixth street, and was largely attended. Services were conducted at the house by Rev. Mr. Tomkinson, assistant pastor at the First Baptist church, and there was singing by Miss Inez George. Post 182, G. A. R., of which deceased was a member, also held their services at the house. The bearers were Ames Wintlers, A. Davis, A. G. Parkhurst and B. S. Clough, members of the G. A. R. Burial was in the family lot in the Eden cemetery. Funeral at 10.

arrangements were in charge of the J. B. Currier Co.

NICHOLS—The funeral of Elijah M. Nichols took place yesterday afternoon from his residence, 712 Suffolk street. Rev. Sarah A. Dixon of the First Trinitarian Congregational church officiated and there were singing by Mrs. H. R. Hanson and Miss Stella Wilson. The bearers were G. L. Pollard, E. G. W. McKittick, A. R. Coffin and E. R. Currier. Burial was in the family lot in the Woodbine cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of W. H. Robinson and burial was in charge of Undertaker Healey.

KIVAL—Julia Kival, aged 4 months, died Sunday morning at the home of her parents, John and Mary Kival, 43 North street. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock and burial was in the Catholic cemetery in charge of Undertaker M. H. McDonough & Sons.

LEONARD—The funeral of the late Miss Mary Leonard took place this morning at 9:30 from the chapel of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons, and was largely attended by sorrowing friends and relatives, including a large number from out of town. The cortege proceeded at 9:45 o'clock a mass of requiem was celebrated, Rev. John J. McHugh officiating. The choir, under the direction of Michael J. Johnson presided at the organ. Among the many beautiful floral tributes were a large pillow inscribed "Sister," from sister, Miss Annie Leonard; large wreath inscribed "Aunt," from Mr. and Mrs. John J. Leonard; large wreath, Mrs. L. M. Hayes and Mary. The bearers were John Leonard, James Donnelly, At the grave Rev. John J. # BACK BROKEN

BROCKTON MAN WAS INJURED WHILE DIVING.

NANTASKET, Aug. 24.—Edward F. Pulsifer, 34 years old, of 44 Glenwood avenue, Brockton, was very seriously injured as the result of a dive from a rock at Nantasket beach yesterday afternoon. Mr. Pulsifer came to the beach with a party of friends and about 4:30 he swam out to the raft and dove into the water.

He struck on his head and was rendered unconscious, but some of the other bathers who had witnessed the accident brought him to the shore. Dr. Walter H. Sturgis, who was called for, found that Mr. Pulsifer's back had been broken and advised his removal to the Massachusetts general hospital.

FOR NO LICENSE

Law and Order League Holds a Big Meeting

About 1000 persons, men, women and children, gathered on the South common yesterday afternoon to hear what the speakers for the Law and Order League had to say for the no-license cause. It was another in a series of meetings for no-license and it was opened at 4:30 by Rev. John T. Ullom and the audience was an attentive and an orderly one. Rev. J. M. Craig, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the first speaker. "What the Law Can Not Do, Education Can," was his subject and in part he said:

"There is no question on earth which compares with this temperance question, and the agitation of such a question is for the good of every man, woman and child in the land. Does every man who uses any kind of alcoholic liquor or malt beverage know that every glass of beer, whiskey or gin contains a strong poison? If I go into a drug store and buy arsenic, and use it, I am poisoned. But on the bottle is a sign poison, and a red skull and cross bones. If every glass of intoxicating liquors was labeled with a sign 'poison' and with a skull and cross bones, I am sure that there are some men who would not drink it."

"A while ago the director of the department of charities of France sent out statements which were challenged by every wine grower, brewer and seller in the whole nation of France. They rose up and rebuked the government. France is a wine-growing country, and the government investigated the statements of the director of the department, and found every one of them absolutely true."

"The government immediately, as is the custom over there, placarded the walls of the public buildings, and public places with the following statements:

1. "Alcoholism is chronic poisoning resulting from the use of alcohol, even if such use does not produce drunkenness."
2. "It is an error to say that alcohol is necessary to a working man."
3. "Alcoholism is good for nobody, but works harm to everybody who uses it."
4. "Alcoholism frequently results in insanity."
5. "It is one of the most frequent causes of tuberculosis."
6. "It enhances and aggravates all acute diseases."

MRS. SAGE'S GIFT

An Islet for Military Prep. School

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Negotiations have been completed for the purchase by Mrs. Russell Sage of Constitution Island, in the Hudson river, opposite West Point. Mrs. Sage shortly will present the island to the United States government for the site of a great military preparatory school which will form one of the most important features of the military training establishment at West Point.

Mrs. Sage has had the purchase of the island in view for some time and while it is known that the papers are about to be signed and that some announcement of Mrs. Sage's intention will probably be made within a week no one could be found in the city yesterday who is acquainted with the details. Robert W. DeForest, who usually arranges such matters for Mrs. Sage, is away. It was said that John D. Lindsay had a hand in the negotiations. He sailed for Europe on Thursday.

Col. Hugh L. Scott, the commandant at West Point, who is known to have been consulted by representatives of Mrs. Sage as to whether it would be possible to carry out Mrs. Sage's idea of a military preparatory school and whether it was probable that congress would sanction the presentation of the island, said yesterday that he had received no papers in the transaction and

"This is not quoting from a one-eyed cold water fanatic. It is from calm and accurate investigation by a government and in a wine-growing country."

Thomas H. Raymond of Cambridge was the next speaker and his subject was: "The Needs of the City." He said in part:

"The Pride of New England," said Thomas Jefferson, "is in its town meetings." The city is nothing but a larger town, with meetings of the council and board of aldermen in place of the town meetings.

"These officers of the law are supposed to govern in their meetings as the people would govern should they hold town meetings of their own. I sympathize with the working man. Down in Cambridge where I come from we have had no saloons for years, and God grant that we may have none ever again. So long as I have a voice I will fight against the saloons, and I know whereof I speak. I come here to plead that every man, woman and child in this city may have a chance."

"You spend money for the sick of your city. You spend money for parks, and good streets, and I am glad to see that. But what does it mean when the statistics show that you accepted $125,000 for liquor taxes during the past year? It means that you sold every man, woman and child in this city for $1.25 per head. Am I right? And you cannot measure a human life in dollars and cents. Where is the man living who can tell what Abraham Lincoln was worth to this world. Where is the man living who can tell what Jesus Christ was worth to this earth."

"The city needs to allow every man to have his chance and that will not happen until the saloon is wiped out. A man once came to me and said that run was a good thing because he could get a man to work for him for less wages if he was a drinker than if he was a sober man. I sympathize with a man who has to sell himself to an employer because in a moment of drunkenness he gives in and signs a contract to work for less money than he is worth."

that any statement concerning it must come from Mrs. Sage.

Col. Scott declined to say whether the presentation of Constitution Island had been discussed during the recent visit of Secretary Wright and himself to Secretary Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, but it is believed that the subject was talked of and that it was decided that there was nothing in the way of the gift being accepted by the government.

President Roosevelt is known to have had the idea of a great military training school in mind for several years. Because of his interest in the project the purchase of Constitution Island for that purpose was to have been brought up in the next congress.

Whether Mrs. Sage also will furnish the money with which to erect the necessary buildings on the island will not be known until a statement concerning Constitution Island is made for her. The 280 acres comprising the island can be bought for about $150,000. It is said, at which price property in the vicinity of the island has been selling. It is not considered likely that Mrs. Sage intends to furnish funds for the buildings to be erected on the island or that the government would expect her to do so.

Constitution Island is now the property of Miss Anna Bartlett Warner, who with her sister, the late Susan Warner, who wrote under the pen name of Elizabeth Wetherell, bought the property in 1880.

Miss Warner is now 83 years old, but in spite of that is in excellent health and has gone to West Point every Sunday, when the weather did not prevent her from making the trip across the river in a boat, to teach a Sunday school class in the Academy chapel.

THREE SENATORS

Studying Banking Systems of Europe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The subcommittee of the national monetary commission of the United States which has been studying the English banking system has concluded its sitings in London. The subcommittee, consisting of Senator John W. Daniel of Virginia, Edward B. Vreeland of New York and Jesse Overstreet of Indiana, from the house of representatives, have gone to Paris to continue the investigations. Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island, accompanied by Professor A. P. Andrews of Harvard university, will proceed to Berlin to get some special articles prepared by experts on banking. Senator Eugene Hale of Maine and Theodore E. Burton of Ohio are on their way to New York.

Senator Aldrich is the man who introduced the senate currency bill to relieve the money stringency, but it was severely criticised throughout the

SEATTLE'S GARBAGE PROBLEMS

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 24.—Ten districts, with an incinerator in each, is what is needed by Greater Seattle for the collection and destruction of garbage, according to City Engineer R. H. Thomson and Assistant Corporation Counsel King Dykeman, who have gone over the proposition carefully. This opinion was given to the finance committee of the council by Mr. Dykeman and came as a surprise to the members, who believe that $300,000 would be sufficient to install a system such as has been advocated by Councilman Eugene Way, who favors the issuance of bonds to make the installation. The present incinerator cost in the neighborhood of $50,000, and it is estimated that the other nine will cost at least $30,000 each, making an investment of $270,000 for buildings alone. No action was taken by the committee beyond delegating Mr. Dykeman and Mr. Thomson to work out plans for a system of collection and destruction along the lines recommended.

STATE OFFICERS FAMOUS WRITER

Were in This City Yesterday

Since the invasion of the bandits and the commitment of crime in and about Lowell the state police have taken a sudden interest in this portion of the state. For instance Gen. Jophanus Whitney took it unto himself to spend about three hours at Lakeview yesterday afternoon. He was accompanied by Inspector Dyrn. After inspecting Lakeview the pair went to Willow Dale.

Although the officers refused to talk, it is thought that they were there for the purpose of inspecting the resort with a view of seeing whether the new Sunday observance law is being complied with. Some few people were of the opinion that they were working on the case of the diamond robbery, but this opinion was scouted by the majority.

The skating rink at Willow Dale, the hotels and other attractions all came in for a close inspection.

war he studied law and was admitted to the bar. He has written several books and is considered one of the ablest men in the United States senate. He was democratic elector at large in 1876 and delegate at large in national democratic conventions in 1880-1888-1892-1896-1900 and 1904. He entered congress in 1881 and was elected to the senate to succeed William Mahone in 1887. He has since been re-elected and his present term will expire in 1911.

Senator Hale of Maine is also a distinguished figure in the senate and a man who exercised a great influence in the councils of the republican party. He served in the 41st, 42d and 43d congresses. He was appointed postmaster by President Grant in 1874, but declined. He served through the next two congresses and was tendered a cabinet office by President Hayes, which he also declined. He was elected to the U. S. senate in 1881 and has been steadily re-elected ever since. His term will expire in 1911.

Senator Aldrich is the man who introduced the senate currency bill to relieve the money stringency, but it was severely criticised throughout the

THE REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN.

The campaign is now waxing warm. The republicans are laying their plans for a lively battle at the hustings, although in view of the panic now upon the country it is difficult to see on what grounds they can ask support of the people. That party still stands pat on the tariff that shelters the robber trusts; it still is loyal to these monsters which President Roosevelt has been unable to restrain; the party is not abashed by the panic affecting the whole country, and hence it continues the work of federal usurpation of authority and misconstruction of the constitution to suit its purposes. That party, to relieve the financial stringency, has passed a dangerous currency bill that snits the bankers more than anybody else; it maintains the old Philippine policy, the despotic rule of the speaker by which popular measures are debared from consideration in congress; it has refused to favor reasonable concessions on the injunction question or to grant a single measure of relief from the extortions under the excessive tariff. If returned to power the republican party, as some of the leaders have said, may revise the tariff upward instead of downward. No party so mortgaged to the trusts can serve the people.

The present situation has been well described by Congressman Burnett of Alabama in the following language:

"Never has the republican party gone into a campaign with as much slime upon its garments as it carries into the present one.

"Never has it gone into one where it has realized that its shortcomings, its sins, and its infamies are so fully known to the great masses of the people as at this time.

"For the last twelve years it has invoked the doctrines of the full dinner pail to bamboozle the people, and it has raised the cry of prosperity as the slogan for its success.

"Thousands of honest men have been deceived by the specious arguments of its spellbinders, and thousands of voters have cast their ballots for its candidates because they believed that republican success meant bread and meat to their wives and their children, and that democratic victory meant hunger and want for those whom they loved. But you can't fool all the people all the time, and at last the greed of your vamps has caused the scales to fall from the eyes of the American voters, and your day of retribution is at hand.

"The objects of your republican care and benefactions had become so entrenched in their own arrogant lawlessness that they believed no power could ever drive them out. It would have yet been many a long year before they could have been dislodged but for the fact that they became so greedy with devouring the people that their insatiable maws forced them to turn to devouring themselves. Then it was that the light began to be turned on and the people began to see that the very foundations of their liberties were being threatened."

OPPORTUNITIES FOR THE FARMERS.

At the present time when almost every commodity necessary for household use is controlled by trusts and sold at enormous prices there is a great opportunity for the farmers of New England to produce their own oats, their own pork, beef and butter.

With oats at 75c a bushel the farmers could undoubtedly make money by raising this crop.

With the extortions of the beef trust which have sent the price of beef to the highest figure ever reached in this or any other country, the farmers could also derive a large profit by raising their own beef. Nay, they could go even farther and raise cattle to supply the New England market. That would be the best method of forcing the beef trust to reduce its prices.

The farmers of New England, it seems, are letting a great many opportunities pass that if availed of would bring them in liberal profits.

The vacant farms of New Hampshire are being reoccupied and placed under tillage. The farms of Massachusetts should also receive more attention, the farmers should raise more cattle as well as a greater variety of crops so that in a short time they may be able to market their grain, their beef, their pork, their butter and eggs to good advantage and in opposition to the trusts.

THE WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS.

The woman suffragists of Massachusetts have proclaimed that they are to enter the presidential campaign for Taft and Sherman.

Can it be that they are all of the same political stripe? Seldom do we see a body of women display such harmony.

Possibly the democratic women who favor the election of Bryan and Kern are of the opinion that it is useless to start rattling old tin cans and making other discomfiting noises without having anything resembling a vote to back it up. In that opinion they are quite right.

The republican party has produced a panic, probably the worst in our history, and the "suffragettes" show questionable judgment by coming out in a campaign of wind to secure a return to power of this panic-making combination of the trusts and the republican party. The suffragists will not advance their cause by this course.

The encouragement given by various governments to the inventors of flying machines is bound, eventually, to result in a machine that will astonish the world by its power of flying from point to point with perfect dirigibility except where high winds or storms interpose to make such a feat impossible.

There is always good reason to pity the woman who is writing a telegram, and feels obliged to keep it inside of ten words.

Some day, no doubt, the bustle will come into fashion again. It used to be very handy for the woman who was going traveling.

The man who takes himself seriously may set a good example, but it isn't always generally followed.

An', besides, don't ye see, 'tis but my point of view;
You must work out your riddle o' life fur yerself.

You must look fur your joy in another direction.
An' I beg you to fight in yer innocent eyes.

Jist a spark o' sweet pity to aid the inspection.
Shure the thing is so small, an' so lowly it lies.

It begins wid an "m" an' it ends wid an "e".
Oh, it's a little it merits your notice, 'tis true.

Still there's good in it, too, though that same may be true.
A reflection of all that is sweetest in you.

Oh! the bothersome riddle! I wonder now whether
We could make our luck better if we should combine?

Yidy, I think if we'd jist put our two heads together
We could split in wan word all your joy, dear, an' mine.

It begins wid a "u" an' it ends wid an "s".
There's the sum o' my joy an' the sum o' yer own!

Och! the riddle o' life's so distressin' to guess,
Nayther wan of us, dear, could have solved it alone.

—T. A. Daley, in Catholic Standard and Times.

Lillian Russell, just in from Europe, had a secret, but she couldn't keep it. She just had to tell someone, girl like. She has found the real way to prolong the youth in her that makes her the envy of all women who believe that beauty talks, and here it is, in her own words:

"I am in love for the first time in my life and with a prince."

She didn't blush and polish her tell-tale solitaire. She simply got dreamy looking about the eyes, and unconsciously played with a gorgeous string of pearls—the biggest pearls that ever approached New York harbor.

And the pearls were given her by a Greek prince who lives in Athens.

"I was in Paris that the woman who does not know how to grow old met the prince. She was seriously impressed with his personality, his Greek profile, and she intuitively knew that his 35 years of life had not dulled him to a lack of appreciation of the 'rather' good-looking woman who was sitting next him at dinner."

When Lillian Russell got in with her trunk she talked about everything, but she never mentioned love. It was when the pearls were shown that she came out with it.

"It is not the pearls alone that made me know some great experience had come to me," she said. "Why, girls, honor bright, at night, while the string is in my safe, I think just the same thoughts of him and I look out at the stars and never, never do I wish the pearls were diamonds. There are moments when the greatest thing in the world is love. I have only now learned that lesson." Good for Lillian.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

There are heroes in peace as well as in war. Just after a cage containing twelve miners had begun to descend to the bottom of the Little Oak coal mine at Belleville, Ill., on Saturday, a steam pipe burst and a jet of steam sprouted upon the arm of Sidney Rowland, the engineer, who stood with his hands upon the lever controlling the descending cage. There was no one to whom to call and had he released his hold the cage would have dropped to the bottom of the shaft, so he stood with his flesh cooking until the indicator showed that the cage had reached the bottom. Rowland was severely scalded.

Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of the Kaiser, has applied for a patent for an automatic cleaner of the glass screens protecting the occupants of automobiles. The invention is in the form of a leather lined rule moving up and down the screen when the car is speeding in the rain.

While several boys and girls were playing in the woods in Caldwell, N. J., Anna Dodge, whose home is in Brooklyn, found the nest of a blackbird and in it a ring set with four diamonds. A jeweler says it is worth $250.

Gov. C. N. Haskell, national treasurer for the democrats, is spending his spare moments writing campaign songs. He has employed Harp P. Bee of Ardmore, a legislative clerk, to accompany him on his speaking trips and sing the Haskell songs.

Hall Caine, the novelist, has bought up a considerable portion of the Isle of Man, the place of his birth. He has a keen business sense and his purchases of land show a shrewd knowledge of values.

Princess Philippa of Wurtemberg, who was an archduchess of Austria, makes rubber stockings and other aids for the wounded, and she receives royalties from several of the war ministers of Europe.

King Edward does not sit at the end of his table, as is customary with hosts at most houses, but in the middle seat, his guests being to the right and left and facing him. Conversation is general at the dinners of the present English court, whereas in Queen Victoria's time the meals were eaten in comparative silence, the queen merely addressing the members of her family from time to time in an undertone, and then often in German.

Sir Walter Parratt, the newly appointed professor of music in Oxford University, is an enthusiastic chess player. On one occasion he undertook to play two men at once, and at the same time play on the pianoforte from memory pieces selected by these present from classical writers for that instrument. He not only played brilliantly during the games—never once looking at the chess board—but conversed with several persons, who did their best to distract him. The game lasted an hour, and Sir Walter was the victor. His pianoforte selections while the game was in progress came from Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, Mendelssohn and Chopin, and he afterward explained that for the greater part of the hour he had been intensely interested in the efforts of a fly to disentangle itself from a spider's web.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

TO PROTECT PROPERTY AND LIFE.
Boston Traveler: Each day brings its report of new "yegg" outrages, which now extend beyond the metropolitan district of Boston, to which, for a fortnight, they were confined.

Crime is imitatively epidemic; the outrages reported daily from places like Lowell and Haverhill and Marlboro are probably not the work of the Jamaica Plain bandits, but this banditry is possible only because of the inefficiency and lack of system of our public officers.

This crime wave emphasizes the necessity for a change in our police system, which will put the responsibility for law and order in the Greater Boston district under the control of a metropolitan police board, and thus obviate the confusion and lack of co-operation which now exist. The police department in the smaller communities should remain as at present, but under direction of the central authority in Boston.

THAT STATE POLICE.
Worcester Post: And while the murders, holdups, burglaries, assaults, and all the crimes within the repertoire of the most desperate outlaws continue with their reign of terror in Boston and suburbs, what about that state police which was to be specially for such emergencies?

This is not the first time that its utter incompetence and worthlessness, especially its so-called detective branch, has been proved at the test. It is only the most striking exhibition of what has been notorious for years. And it is extra aggravating coming at a time when state law enforcement is so enormously increased. Like a scoundrel, it is a disgraceful waste of money.

Philadelphia Ledger: When a man froths at the mouth and barks like a dog he has not hydrophobia. The doctors say so, and that much seems to be settled. A properly behaved victim of rabies has only a plain delirium and convulsions at the crisis, and probably dies, sluggish fever in the early stages. Besides, some of the oldest practitioners, with hospital experience, say that they never saw a case of rabies caused by a dog bite. The moral is that if you are bitten by a dog try to forget all about it, and if your friends say give him a good whack he begins to bark, and he will quit thinking about dogs.

GOOD BREAD AND BAD.

Concord Patriot: An English writer on bread says good bread is richer in food than inferior bread, gluten practically answering to the nourishing part of the lean flesh of meat, while the starch, which forms by far the largest constituent of bread, has no muscle, bone or cartilage-building properties whatever. Its chief function is to produce heat in the body and to provide energy or force, and yet it is a fat producer. The great benefit of a good table economy of the working classes is not in their failure to use bread to the utmost, but to eat it with milk. The two foods, bread and new milk, form an ideal ration, especially for children, for while both are more easily digested than when consumed alone, they form a better balanced ration, the richness of milk in casein, albumen and fat making up for the deficiency of bread in these or similar materials.

KANSAS CITY'S ZOO.

Boston Transcript: Kansas City has heard the call of the wild, and this month has begun work on the first building of a group, which, when completed, will cost half a million dollars. Five years are allowed for completion. Its most conspicuous feature will be the "lion house," which is to be 120 by 20 feet, and has accommodations for about 75 lions, tigers, etc. In addition to the housed animals, there will be a 10-acre jungle at the eastern end of Swappa park, where within a fence 14 feet high animals will roam undisturbed in their native wilderness so far as their nearness to civilization will permit the illusion.

FIRE DISASTERS.

Worcester Mirror: The recent disastrous fire in Boston, where property valued roughly at a million and a half of dollars was swept away in a few moments, serves to stimulate anew the discussion of the wholly inadequate preventive measures which are taken in American cities generally against invasion by fire. It is matter of common knowledge that American cities, with the possible exception of a certain restricted class in New York, are more liable to visitations of this kind than any other of the civilized world. Statistics compiled during the last three-quarters of a century give the proof.

Glance at the situation which confronts us in America today. During the period since 1850 the property loss resulting from fires which reached the stage of conflagrations amounted to $1,500,000,000. To this gross total the United States alone contributed $800,000,000, and if Canada be included the figure mounts to $1,500,000,000—a truly appalling showing. And this is the result of the fact that rather of piling up than of conserving, but this period of flat youth is surely now over.

TOUGH ON PAPA

BUT NEVER AGAIN WILL HE PLAY COACHMAN.

A Louisville business man who recently took a summer home about 12 miles in the country had an adventure the other night that has, he says, taught him not to do too much for young fellows who might be calling on his daughter.

"The other night," says he, "I allowed the coachman to go, and did not discover until after he had gone that my daughter was expecting a young man caller. There was nothing to do but to hitch up the horse myself and go to the station to meet him.

"When the car rolled in, just one youngster alighted, and as he answered the description of the fellow coming to see my daughter I sauntered up to him and inquired if he might be Mr. . . .

"How did you know?" replied the chap, with a tone of disgust at being addressed thus by the 'coachman.'

"The caller was loaded into the carriage and the journey to the house was begun. To break the ice I told him I had understood that he was in a certain line of business, and again came the haughty, 'How did you know?'

"During the remainder of the journey the young man sang popular songs. When we arrived at the house I put the caller out and proceeded to the stable to put up the horse. After this work had been completed I returned to the house just in time to overtake the young man ask my daughter.

"Who was that 'fresh guy' that brought me over here tonight?"

"When told that the 'fresh guy' was her father, I thought the caller would wilt, and then I decided to put in an appearance about that time. He jumped up, said that if he had known I wanted to put up the horse he would certainly have helped. My advice to him was to get out of there as fast as he could, and I shall hereafter stick to what I am preaching—is never to go to bed without a young man caller when that person has two good legs that can carry him from the station to the house. That young man certainly walked back to the station that night."—Louisville Times.

CLOTH MARKET

PRINT TOOK A BIG BOOM LAST WEEK.

FALL RIVER, August 24.—There was extensive trading in the print cloth market last week, and the total sales are estimated at about 400,000 pieces, the largest of any weekly quota in over a year. The improvement really began during the closing days of the previous week and strengthened daily to such an extent that the manufacturers stiffened up a little on prices, thereby cutting off concessions appreciably. While quotations have not changed over those of last week, buyers have found it useless to bid under these prices, especially on goods most wanted by them.

The bulk of trading was done in narrow goods, and the one feature of these sales was the large transactions put through on 27-inch, 64x64s at 2 13-16 cents. In some instances buyers were willing to pay a bonus of 1 per cent. to secure this make of goods. The sales came nearly depleting the local market of this line, and the interesting point of the trading was the comparatively little competition met with from southern mills. Ordinarily, the quotations from southern mills are a fraction lower than those about this section of the country, but fortunately the mills in the north offered better inducements to the buyers and consequently the major part of the business was secured by them.

The character of the trading was continuous, and not of that hand-to-mouth sort which has been the case for the past several months. Printers were in the market in large numbers and their takings constituted a majority of the sales. Sizeable lots of spots were disposed of, while contracts were entered into calling for deliveries as far ahead as November. The demand for wide and medium-wide goods was light and the volume of business put through on these was comparatively small. While the number of transactions was large, they represent a loss of between two and three cents a pound at current quotations, and this being the case, manufacturers are not over desirous to trade further along these lines.

The quotations are as follows: 28-inch, 64x64s, 3 1-16 cents; 28-inch, 64x68, 2 15-16 cents; 27-inch, 64x68s, 2 13-16 cents; 27-inch, 64x68s, 2 1-2 cents; 38 1-2-inch, 64x64s, 4 1-4 cents; 35-inch, 68x72s, 4 7-8 cents.

Chicago Man Charged With Stealing From Uncle Sam

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—The mystery of the theft of $173,000 from the United States sub-treasury a year and a half ago, one of the largest losses the government has ever suffered in this manner, is believed to have been solved by the arrest yesterday of George W. Fitzgerald. Others are believed to have been furnished in the crime which for months completely baffled government secret service men.

Fitzgerald was an associate teller under Assistant United States Treasurer William Boldenweck. Suspicion at the time of the theft, Feb. 20, 1907, rested on him, but so plausible was his story and so intense his apparent interest in discovering the real culprit, that interest ceased to center in him. Much work was done on the theory that the crime had been perpetrated by a colored man. Meanwhile, Fitzgerald was discharged from the government employ for culpable negligence in allowing such a theft to be consummated under his very eyes. The money stolen had been used and was tied in packages, some having been marked for destruction at Washington. Any of the bills would readily have passed anywhere except for their large denominations. None of the bills was under $500 and some were of the $1000 and $5000 denominations, the $500 ones predominating.

The theft created a sensation throughout the country and congress at the last session was asked and refused to release Assistant Treasurer Boldenweck from liability, although it was promised that congress would again consider the matter in its session. Meanwhile, Fitzgerald, a former Chicago newspaper reporter and now head of the Young Secret Service agency, became interested in the case, at first without official connection with the case, but later as the agent of Mr. Boldenweck. Mr. Young's attention was redirected to Fitzgerald. The latter, upon his discharge from the sub-treasury, stated that his whole fortune consisted of $200 in cash and a stock certificate for $1000. His wife had a $700 interest in the estate of her mother, which was valued at about $4000 and was in litigation.

Fitzgerald, however, according to Mr. Young, embarked in speculation on a scale not consistent with the size of his reported means. There was, however, no ostentation in Fitzgerald's life. In July, 1907, Fitzgerald inaugurated an egg deal which ultimately, it is said, involved an expenditure of $1000 and the following March a similar deal involved him, according to Mr. Young, to the extent of $15,000. Incidentally, the former teller had become the possessor, in his wife's name, of a neat brick residence in Rogers Park, a suburb of Chicago, and valued at $5000.

Last July the agent is said to have become hot when Col. Harry C. Gann, business man of prominence, reported to Mr. Boldenweck, it is said, that Fitzgerald had approached him with a proposition to pass several $1000 bills. After conferring with Mr. Boldenweck, Col. Gann continued negotiations with Fitzgerald.

SULTAN BEATEN

DEFEATED BY FORCES OF HIS BROTHER.

TANGIER, Aug. 24.—The defeat of the sultan, Abd-El-Asiz by the forces of his brother, Mulai Hafid, has been confirmed. The sultan of record was surprised on the night of August 19 and most of his troops deserted to the side of the usurping sultan, after the firing of a few shots. Reports indicate that the defeat of Abd-El-Asiz was due largely to the betrayal of his own tribesmen. Mulai Hafid has been proclaimed sultan of Morocco at Tangier and announcement of the proclamation has been telegraphed to all parts of the country. All the officials who previously have been under the rule of Abd-El-Asiz in this city declare that they have accepted Mulai Hafid as leader, thereby making him supreme in all the large cities of Morocco.

Details of the battle show that Abd-El-Asiz had an army numerically the superior of the enemy, but that his artillery either failed to work or was deliberately tampered with.

A Tangier newspaper states that the British officers and several of the French officers are missing.

ATTENDED MASS 1200 Men of Fleet at Cathedral Service

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Aug. 24.—Four thousand men of the American fleet were permitted ashore yesterday and 1200 of these, including 134 officers, attended high mass in the cathedral. These services were impressive and special music had been arranged in honor of the Americans. Great crowds lined the streets and took quite as much interest in the passing sailmen as on the first day of their arrival.

A banquet was given last night in the town hall by the Catholics to 1200 men and officers of the fleet, which was attended by the federal ministers, judges and other officials. Cardinal Moran, archbishop of Sydney, presided. Toasts were drunk to the king and president after which Cardinal Moran, in proposing "Our Guests," delivered a long historical address, showing that Catholics had advanced along the same lines of material prosperity and religious liberty in America and Australia.

The Rev. Matthew C. Gleeson, chaplain of the battleship Connecticut, responded in a brilliant address. He said that Sydney's reception surpassed any that the fleet had ever received, even at home. The magnificent hospitality of the Australians, he declared, would make an abiding impression in the hearts of eighty millions of Americans, who were truly kinsmen. America knew no religious problems, whether English, Scotch, Irish or other.

Among the most cherished memories of the visit that the Americans will carry away will be a tame kangaroo which Cardinal Moran presented to the battleship Connecticut, as he said, he wished the men of the ship to have something characteristic of the country.

Rear-Admiral Sperry, Lord and Lady Northcote, Sir Harry and Lady Rawson and a large number of the officers and men of the visiting fleet attended the Anglican cathedral. The Baptists and Congregationalists united in service, which also was largely attended. Chaplain Stevenson, of the Illinois, officiated at a Methodist service of the American and British blue jackets, while the Presbyterians worshipped in the town hall.

Admiral Sperry, and Vice-Admiral Sir Richard Poore, commander-in-chief of the British squadron, in Australian waters, accompanied by a number of other officers, attended the church parade of 200 Australian troops. The troops later marched to Centennial park, where the governor presented the colors to the infantry regiment.

Following Saturday's storm, glorious weather prevailed yesterday. There was a gay scene in the harbor and the fleet was crowded with visitors. Saturday night a boat containing two American sailors and two civilians, capsized while crossing Woolloomoolloo Bay. All of the men were rescued, but one of the sailors had a narrow escape. "Johnny" Burns, the American heavyweight champion, will meet "Billy" Squires tonight in the roped arena for the third time. The local syndicate which is managing the fights to be held here and those to be held in Melbourne, has booked passages for Burns and Squires to England, so elaborate have been its preparations.

The syndicate has about $25,000 at stake, covering the fights between Burns and Squires in Sydney and between Burns and "Bill" Lang in Melbourne. For the debt tonight Burns is to be paid $10,000 win or lose, and $25,000 for expenses. Squires is to be paid $12,500 win or lose, which includes expenses.

For the fight in Melbourne with Lang, Burns is to receive an additional $5000 win or lose. Lang is the present heavyweight champion of Australia, while Squires formerly held that title. Burns in an interview last night said that he was suffering from a slight cold, but that he expected to win both fights very easily. Squires, who has already made but a sorry showing against Burns on two occasions, did not hesitate to assert confidently that he stood a very good chance of winning. He is in good condition and has been here being more agreeable to him than in any of the foreign countries where he has fought. There is not much betting on the outcome of the Burns-Squires fight. Burns generally being a warm favorite.

Pondergast, the lightweight champion of the fleet, will meet Raff, of Sydney, in a ten-round preliminary.

REV. SMITH BAKER

Preaches on the Immortality of the Soul

A familiar voice was heard at the First Congregational church yesterday morning and a venerable and familiar face looked down from the pulpit. It was the voice and face of Rev. Smith Baker, D.D., and a goodly crowd had gathered to hear the former pastor preach the last of his summer sermons. Dr. Baker has been substituting for Rev. Mr. Willmot for several weeks and the congregation of the First Congregational church has on each Sunday been augmented by many from other congregations, friends and admirers of Dr. Baker, the earnest and forceful preacher.

His subject yesterday was "Other Worldliness," and, in part, he said:

"The man whose only ambition in life is to get enough to enable him to eat well and sleep well is a failure. The farmer, who only cares about getting a fair crop of potatoes, or of some other vegetable, will fail miserably. Let a man be born heir to millions and do nothing but eat off cushions and he is the most contemptible mortal living. The worst failure this side of hell. When a rich man lives only to enjoy himself he is a success, but he is a failure. While pleasure, recreation and amusement are right and proper, yet the great tendency now is to live for these things alone. The great social weakness at the present time is to live for the present and to cast no thought of an endless life. This is sapping the life and strength and permanency of this American nation. We're no bigger nor better than were the citizens of Babylon, or the Jew, or Rome, or anything else with their times. These great nations fell, and they fell because they heeded no little the future and builded only for their present."

"It is only when a people live for the future, when the arts and the sciences are advanced, that the present is worth living. A present which means something, that is the only thing worth while in the end. Wherever you find a nation, heathen or Christian, which does not believe in the immortality of soul, which does not look out into the blackness of the future and see some great light shining, wherever you find such a nation then you will also find that it is weak and dissipated. Without the power of an endless life to awaken such nations, to quicken their morals, they are doomed to positive failure."

"Immortality, I believe, is not confined to one class any more than to another. The proportion of rich, cultured men's sons who go down to miserable degradation is as great as the proportion of the sons of the poor who make failures of their lives."

"There is nothing in culture of itself, that restrains from doing wrong. Look at the ventilation of almost unbelievable crimes in our daily papers, faithful records of what the rich and cultured classes, as well as of the poorer classes, are doing. Can you believe, after reading them, that it is culture alone which saves anybody from a low moral standard?"

"In Europe are two of the greatest cities in the world. They represent two different phases of life. London, the English metropolis, still, in the main, holds to the religion of Jesus Christ. There are bad spots in the great city, but the city considered as a whole is Christian. London sends out annually ten times as many bibles as the rest of the cities of the world put together. The good old God-fearing religion, the religion of endless life, finds its greatest exponents there."

"Across the channel, in France, is this other great city—Paris. It is superior to London in art and in science, yet it is the most corrupt city in the world. If science and culture and art and wealth made archangels, then Paris would be the center of them, would be the most moral, instead of the most immoral city in the universe. One thing to go by nowadays, when looking into the habits of mind of a nation, is the number of suicides. In London, last year there were 78 suicides to each million of inhabitants. In Paris this rose to 544 per million. One of these great cities teaches the immortality of the soul; the other teaches agnosticism, unbelief and immorality.

"A man is dead, indeed, who has no thought of the endless life. All the wealth of the globe cannot satisfy, all the culture, all the ephemeral joys of dissipation and entertainment cannot stop the yearnings of the human soul for something higher, better. For the human soul is bigger than wealth and culture and mere pleasure."

"If this life is all, it is only working and suffering, then I would not blame multitudes from jumping into the river. For, with cruel injustice, with weakness, with temptation, with sickness and sorrow, what is left, if there is not the belief in the human soul and the endless life? There is nothing, I tell you."

"But, when there is the belief in the eternity of everlasting truth, of growth in love and power, what are 20, 30 or 40 years of suffering here below, compared with that? Women, crushed by poverty, by disappointment, by meanness and passion, have yet faced the world with their undying belief in the everlasting life, and have lived sweet noble lives. Their belief has been stronger than all else in life, and it will make saints of them."

"Let this belief enter the heart and soul of the young man and you will see him strengthened, almost before your eyes. He is dignified by it, too. His sins, his temptations, are beneath him."

"The agnostic at the grave of the departed one is more cruel than hell itself. He offers not a thing to comfort the human heart. Take a boy of mine and make of him a drunkard if you will, but leave in him the faith in an endless life. There is immeasurable difference between the utterable blackness of unbelief and the endless glories of belief in the immortality of the human soul."

LOUISIANA MEN

Won Race for the Battleground Cup

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Aug. 24.—The 12-oared cutter race this morning between crews of the battleships Illinois and Louisiana for the Battleground cup was won by the Louisiana men. The distance was three and a half miles and the winners finished 15 lengths in the lead. It is said that about $30,000 changed hands as a result of the race. It is becoming evident each day that the visitors prefer to be left alone rather than have to undergo the discomfort of being publicly entertained. The men even have availed themselves but little of the privilege of theatre tickets.

The marines have addressed a letter of thanks to the people of Sydney, in which they say "If other places think they can surpass Sydney's welcome, they must take the ships ashore."

One of the men on the battleship Georgia, named Cassidy, was drowned yesterday through the capsizing of a small boat in a squall. A sailor of the Illinois fell off a stage in Woolloomoolloo Bay and has not been seen since.

The tender Yankton and the collier Ajax arrived here today.

Rear Admiral Sperry has declined the invitations extended to the officers of the fleet to visit Perth.
